INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS

Communication Between New-York and Washington.

The Bounty Question Under Consideration.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE DISCUSSED.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE N. Y. TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

THE PERILS OF TRAVELERS BETWEEN NEW-YORK AND WASHINGTON.

The monopoly line of road between New-York and Washington yesterday furnished a new proof of its utter incapacity to bring either mails or passengers to the National Capital. The freight train which passed over the road immediately after the night express on the queer ferry-boat arrangement, was tumbled by a fool or a drunkard of an engineer into the deep water ahead of the boat. The lading, of course, was obstructed. No one knows when this clog will be removed. In the meantime passengers have to walk the plank to reach the shore.

LIBEL.—The baggage car from Philadelphia was precipitated to-day, at noon, in the passage of the Susquehanna River by the ferry-boat, into water from twenty-five to forty feet deep. The trunks of women, Congressmen, children, soldiers and lobbyists lie on top of an engine and four freight cars. Congress will hurry to provide a safe road to Washington as fast as the lobbyists will permit.

REMOVAL OF GOVERNMENT ADVERTISING.

Postmaster-General BLAIR gave, to-day, the Post-office advertising of mail contracts to the Philadelphia Gazette. The advertising mentioned is worth from $2,500 to $4,000 a year.

GEN. BUTLER GOES BACK TO HIS DEPARTMENT.

Gen. BUTLER returned to Fortress Monroe this evening. He was in consultation this morning, as all of yesterday, with the President, Secretary of War and Gen. HALLECK, on the exchange of prisoners. His mission here was completely successful.

AMENDMENT TO THE CONFISCATION ACT.

A bill will soon be introduced in Congress repealing that portion of the Confiscation Act which limits the possession of property sold to the natural life of the owner. This step is considered absolutely necessary to afford protection to the purchasers of confiscated property. In Norfolk, rebels whose property has been confiscated are returning in large numbers, taking the oath of allegiance and rehabilitating themselves in ancient comforts and rights.

PERSONAL.

Gen. BURNSIDE has been ordered to New-York, to await some sort of a command which is being cooked up for him.

Capt. Gen. F. EGAN, late Aid-de-Camp on the Staff of Gen. Lew. WALLACE, has been reinstated, and ordered to report for duty to Gen. BUTLER.

CHEAPER GAS.

Congress will be applied to this winter to charter a new gas company in Washington and to annul the charter of the old one, which has grown very wealthy and saucy. The price of gas in Washington is nearly double that paid in other Northern cities. The quality of the light furnished is also indifferent. The new company propose to make the much needed reforms.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

THE ARMAMENT OF THE STEAM-FRIGATE NIAGARA.

Some remarks having appeared in the newspapers about the disarming of the steam-frigate Niagara, and the statement made that the extraordinary weight of metal on board sunk the vessel so low that she was almost useless, it is proper to say that she has been reduced one-half in her battery because men are scarce, and because by this, three hundred are taken from her complement. She now draws only four inches more than when she went to China, and fourteen inches less than when she carried the Atlantic cable.

She is 1500 tons larger than the Minnesota class of frigates, and draws one foot more water, or three feet less than the Great Eastern.

SENTENCES OF COURT-MARTIAL.

A General Court-martial held in the Army of the Potomac has recently passed the following sentences:

Major E. A. ANDERSON, Ninth New-York Cavalry, for absence without leave, misbehavior before the enemy, and conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman, to be dismissed the service of the United States.

First Lieutenant ROBERT P. FOSTER, Third Indiana Cavalry, for drunkenness and conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, to be dismissed the service of the United States.

Capt. HANCOCK, Fifth New-York cavalry, for selling Government horses, to be dismissed and forfeit all pay due him from the Government.

Capt. R. WEBB, Commissary of Subsistence of Volunteers, for disobedience of orders and conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, to be dismissed the service.

Capt. Wm. D. PAULDING, Fifty-ninth New-York Volunteers, for drunkenness while on duty, &c., to be dismissed.

Second Lieut. LAFAYETTE CARMON, Fifty-seventh Pennsylvania Volunteers, knowingly making a false return of the clothing of his company, to be cashiered.

First Lieut. JOHN GALVIN, Seventy-first New-York Volunteers, for drunkenness while on duty, &c., to be cashiered.

First Lieut. EUGENE R. WEBB, One Hundred and Fourth New-York Volunteers, for disobedience of orders and absence without leave, to be dismissed.

Second Lieut. CHARLES W. GALVIN, Fourteenth Connecticut Volunteers, disobedience of orders, drunkenness on duty, and quitting his guard without leave, to be cashiered, and to be forever disqualified to hold office of trust or profit under the Government of the United States.

Second Lieut. URIEL D. BOLLES, One Hundred and Twenty-sixth New-York Volunteers, misbehavior in the face of the enemy, dismissed with loss of all pay and allowances.

Private JOHN RICHARDSON and Corporal DAVID McGEHAN, Fourteenth Pennsylvania Volunteers; privates CHAUNCEY L. SAMPSON, Fifth United States Artillery, and PETER CHEWNEWS, Twentieth Massachusetts Volunteers, having been found guilty of desertion, were sentenced to be shot to death.

These sentences were ordered to be carried into effect on the 4th inst.

BOUNTIES TO VETERAN VOLUNTEERS.

The following is the resolution reported from the Committee on Military Affairs by Senator WILSON:

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby authorized to extend from the 5th day of January, 1864, to the 5th day of February, 1864, the time of paying, in such installments as he may determine, the following bounties, viz.: To veterans who have been in the military service of the United States for nine months, and have been honorably discharged, and to those veterans in the service under enlistments for three or more years, who may reenlist for three years or during the war, in the companies or regiments to which they belong, and who have, at the date of such reenlistment, less than one year to serve, four hundred dollars each; to other persons who may voluntarily enlist in the regular or volunteer service of the United States, for the term of three years or during the war, and who may be accepted for such service, three hundred dollars each.

AMENDMENTS TO THE ENROLLMENT BILL.

The Enrollment Bill introduced yesterday was reported to-day from the Senate Military Committee with many amendments, one of which strikes out the provision authorizing transferal from one enrollment to another upon change of residence. The most important change is the striking out of the commutation claim. The penalty for receiving pay for certificates of disability or any services under this act is increased from $500 to $800, one-half to go to the informant, and the other to the United States.

THE SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The following named gentlemen complete the Finance Committee of the Senate:

Mr. FESSENDEN, Chairman; and Messrs. Sherman, Howe, Cowan, Clark, Van Winkle and Conness.

SUSPECTED PERSONS IN THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

Col. BAKER made known, a week or more ago, to the Assistant-Secretary of the Treasury Department, facts which had come to his knowledge affecting the official character of the persons connected with that Department. These facts were communicated to the Secretary of the Treasury, and he requested the Secretary of War to detail Col. BAKER for service in the prosecution of further inquiries in relation to the suspected parties. The Secretary of War gave the required order, and Col. BAKER was placed by the Secretary of the Treasury under the direction of the Solicitor of the Treasury, with instructions to neglect no means and spare no efforts to make a thorough and complete examination, regardless of persons. The result is the discovery of sufficient grounds for the arrest of Dr. GWINN, of New-England, a contractor for supplying printing presses to the Treasury Department, and who, it is alleged, used the name of the Department for the accomplishment of dishonest purposes.

GEN. BUTLER AND THE EXCHANGE QUESTION.

Nothing seems to be publicly known of the arrangements and Gen. BUTLER, in relation to the discharge of recently offered by the Government authorities prisoners further than the fact that he has ample authority to act in such a manner as will best secure this desirable object.

DEMANDS UPON THE TREASURY.

Quartermasters' checks on the Treasury of the United States are paid with 25 per cent. in money and 75 in certificates. These checks for fractions of a thousand dollars are paid in money. There is authority for saying that all parties in whose favor requisitions are made, but all temporarily delayed in payment by want of money in the Treasury, can be paid without delay on advising the Department of their wish to receive payment in the same mode.

GEN. STONEMAN.

The Star says:

"Gen. STONEMAN, who was lately relieved from the direction of the Cavalry Bureau in this city, has been ordered to report to Gen. GRANT, at KNOXVILLE, on duty in the portion of his army in that vicinity.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

PETITIONS, &c.

Mr. JOHNSON, of Maryland, (Union,) presented a petition from the Friends of Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania, asking exemption from military duty; also a petition from SUSAN W. HARCE, of Maryland, praying for a compensation for the slaves owned by her and which had been taken by the military, and for which pay was disallowed on account of her husband, which was referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. MORGAN, of New-York, (Union), presented petitions from the Society of Friends, praying for exemption.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.

On motion of Mr. ARNOUX, of Rhode Island, (Union,) the Senate proceeded to the election of a select Committee on the Pacific Railroad. He nominated Mr. HOWARD as Chairman, and as members of the Committee Messrs. Collamer, Johnson, Harlan, Trumbull, Sherman, Morgan, Cannon and Brown, who were elected.

Mr. MORRILL, of Maine, (Union,) offered the following:

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be directed to inform the Senate whether the steamship Niagara, which was chartered by the Quartermaster's department in 1858, and reported by a Committee of the Senate as unfit for the service, has since been purchased by the Government; and, if so, by whom and at what price. And whether any claim is made for the original charter, and, if so, what, and particularly, what is the situation of the claim.

Which was adopted.

MILITARY OFFICERS AND ELECTIONS.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the bill of Mr. POWELL, to prevent officers of the army and navy, or other persons engaged in the military service, from interfering with the elections in States.

Mr. GRIMES, of Iowa, (Union,) supported his motion to refer the bill to the Military Committee, as it referred to officers in their military capacity. If these men interfere with elections as private individuals, they become amenable to the laws of the States where they commit the offence.

Mr. POWELL insisted that the Committee on the Judiciary was the proper Committee to which to refer the bill. The bill was to protect the freedom of the elective franchise in the States—to protect it from the unwarrantable interference of military officers. It proposes to impose penalties upon persons engaged in the public service who shall interfere with State elections. These cases should be tried before civil tribunals. The bill would accomplish this. In the British Courts all offences of this kind are tried, and he (POWELL) wished to establish this rule here.

Mr. GRIMES thought the effect of the bill would be to disqualify any officer who obeyed the order of his superior from holding military or civil office.

Mr. POWELL—Then the superior officer would be liable to punishment. If the General-in-Chief were to give the order, he would have to be punished. Unless we can have freedom in our elections, we cannot have free government.

Mr. DAVIS, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) said that the bill of his colleague (POWELL) proposed to prevent the action of soldiers from being brought in contact with freedom of suffrage at the polls. The bill declares that where a certain line of conduct is adopted by the soldier against the freedom of suffrage, such line of action shall constitute a penal offence to be tried, not by martial law, if there be such a law, which he (DAVIS) denied, but by a civil tribunal. It was proper the subject should go to the Judiciary Committee.

The motion to refer the bill to the Judiciary Committee was rejected by a vote of 21 to 16.

Mr. POWELL moved for a reconsideration of the vote.

Mr. LANE, of Indiana, (Union) voted for the reference of the bill to the Judiciary Committee, but not for the reasons given by the Senator from Kentucky. He (LANE) believed that there had been interference with the freedom of elections.

Mr. SAULSBURY (Dem.,) had seen the armed soldiery of the "powers that be" at the polls, and by positive interference drive dozens of voters away. This was in my own State (Delaware), no longer than last November. The majority of the voters of the State of Delaware, at the last election, were not allowed to cast their votes at the polls, because they did not approve of the Administration. He would ask, "has here ever been any attempt by that State to violate any law of this Government? Has that State ever given any encouragement by any act or deed to those in revolt against the Government. He defied any Senator on this floor to show where the State of Delaware had attempted to tear down the fabric of this glorious Union, and yet the party in power, finding that they could not send representatives of their own choice to the other branch of the National Legislature, allow a military man to publish an order that "no citizen should vote unless he should take an oath such as he prescribed." The hero of a military operation on a railroad can make his will the supreme law of voting and say, "You shall not vote unless you shall become subject to my will." This was freedom of elections, indeed! The hero of the blood-stained field of Vienna sent his military forces to every election poll in the State of Delaware, authorizing them before-hand what to do, and saying to the people what they must do. A sovereign State thus became a plaything in the hands of a military officer, who has never distinguished himself in any way in the service of his country.

Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts, (Union,) was opposed to any action in regard to the bill. He (WILSON) was inferior of what the Government had done and what it was doing. There were traitors in Delaware as hostile as any in the State of South Carolina. Their Legislature had passed resolutions that had the odor of moral treason about them. He (WILSON) justified all the Government had done and he hoped they would continue on in the same way until the cause of the rebellion was subdued. He thought the Government would be false and reckless to the country if it allowed a traitor to vote unless he took the oath. Mr. WILSON then defended Gen. SUMNER for his course in Maryland and Delaware. He (SUMNER) had conducted his department in such a manner as to win the approbation of the country, and yet he and Gen. BURNSIDE and other Generals are denounced here for their timely efforts in smoothing the machinations of traitors. There was an act to qualify voters. He (WILSON) was willing to take the oath whenever and wherever asked—from sunrise to sunset. He did not think there was a reason to have the oath administered in Massachusetts, but if the time should ever come for it, he (WILSON) was willing that the Commander of that military department should require the voters to take the oath of allegiance previously to voting. There was no danger to the liberties of the country from taking the oath. Gentlemen may introduce resolutions that were an insult to the loyalty of the country, but the loyal masses awake to the true nature of the policy of the Government.

Mr. POWELL did not admit that the President was the Government. He asked as a matter of courtesy and of justice that his bill should go to the Judiciary Committee, where it would have a fair chance.

Mr. LANE, of Indiana, asked if the President, under the Constitution, had not as much power in South Carolina as in Massachusetts or Ohio, and why?

Mr. POWELL thought not because South Carolina was in rebellion; but he thought he should have if he had not.

Mr. LANE, of Indiana, thought the President had full power to suppress the rebellion, and that it was his duty to see that in those tainted districts disloyal men should not be permitted to vote. He sanctioned the orders of Gen. SUMNER, and others of like character, though he (LANE) would preserve the purity of the ballot-box under all circumstances.

On motion of Mr. GRIMES, the bill was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

THE BOUNTY BILL.

The Senate then received the House bill, extending the bounty to volunteers, which was passed to its second reading, whereupon the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

MR. KELLEY EXCUSED.

Mr. KELLEY, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) asked to be and was excused from serving as a member of the Special Committee on the Bankrupt Law, for the reason that his other public duties engrossed all his time.

FROM NEW-YORK TO WASHINGTON.

The Speaker announced the pending business to be on the passage of Mr. BRANDEGEE's resolution offered yesterday for the appointment of a Select Committee of nine members to inquire into the expediency of constructing a railroad between Washington and New-York for postal and other purposes.

No quorum voting, there was a call of the House. One hundred and ten members answered to their names.

The resolution was adopted—66 against 42.

SMALL-POX IN THE DISTRICT.

Mr. BRANDEGEE, of Connecticut (Union), offered the following resolution: "That the Committee for the District of Columbia be instructed to call the attention of the municipal or other authorities to the extension and prevalence of the small-pox in the District of Columbia, and urge the necessity of suitable sanitary regulation and some compulsory system of vaccination, to prevent the further spread of this terrible scourge of mankind."

Mr. Cox, of Ohio, (Dem.) thought that the appeal to the municipal authorities here would be ineffectual.

The resolution was adopted.

UNIFORM CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.

Mr. DAWES, of Massachusetts, (Union), from the Committee on Elections, reported a bill fixing a uniform time for holding the elections for Representatives in Congress, and enabling soldiers to vote for said officers. Which was ordered to be printed and re-committed.

PRIVILEGE ACCORDED TO COMMITTEES.

Mr. DAWES, on behalf of the Committee on Elections, and Mr. STEVENS on behalf of the Committee of Ways and Means, obtained permission for these two Committees to sit during the session of the House.

THE BOUNTY QUESTION.

Mr. FARNSWORTH, of Illinois, (Union,) from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a joint resolution that the bounties heretofore paid under the regulation and order of the War Department to men enlisted in the regular or volunteer forces for three years or during the war, shall continue to be paid from the 5th of January, 1864, till the 1st of March next, anything in the act approved Dec. 23, 1863, to the contrary notwithstanding; this resolution to be in force from and after its passage.

Mr. FARNSWORTH stated that the object of extending the bounties to the 1st of March, instead of the 1st of February, was to enable the passage of the resolution to reach distant points. The extension was asked both by the President and the Secretary of War.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Dem.,) inquired whether any general policy had been adopted for recruiting excluding or reenlisting veterans than a draft.

Mr. FARNSWORTH was not aware that any action had been taken upon that subject. In reply to the question asked by Mr. COX, Mr. FARNSWORTH said the bounty paid to veterans was $400, and to new men $300 by instalments.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, (Union), asked whether the resolution included colored soldiers.

Mr. FARNSWORTH replied that it merely continued the former bounties.

Mr. STEVENS hoped the Committee would take action on colored soldiers.

Mr. COX inquired whether he was to understand that there never was a law for the payment of bounties.

Mr. FARNSWORTH replied he was not a member of the last Congress. The gentleman from Ohio was, and ought to be better informed than himself.

Mr. STEVENS said when Congress passed the Enrollment Law, they provided for $300 commutation, and expressly authorized the amount derived from that source to be paid for the procuration of substitutes.

Mr. COX said it seemed unusual legislation to bring in a bill of this character based simply on the proclamations of the War Office. They did not know what these proclamations were, and whether they included black men or not. Such proclamations were issued every day. He thought the resolution ought to be more specific. His object was to wipe out the conscription.

Mr. GARFIELD, of Ohio, (Union,) understood that the President suggested the extension of bounties to the first of February. He was anxious to secure the reenlistment of veteran volunteers, who should have liberal bounties; but if all others were included in the provision, it would swamp the country. If the armies were to be filled entirely by volunteering, it also would constitute a penal offence to be tried, not by martial law, if there be such a law, which he (DAVIS) denied, but by a civil tribunal. It was proper the subject should go to the Judiciary Committee.

The motion to refer the bill to the Judiciary Committee was rejected by a vote of 21 to 16.

Mr. POWELL moved for a reconsideration of the vote.

Mr. LANE, of Indiana, (Union) voted for the reference of the bill to the Judiciary Committee, but not for the reasons given by the Senator from Kentucky. He (LANE) believed that there had been interference with the freedom of elections.

Mr. SAULSBURY (Dem.,) had seen the armed soldiery of the "powers that be" at the polls, and by positive interference drive dozens of voters away. BURNSIDE and other Generals are denounced here for their timely efforts in smoothing the machinations of traitors. There was an act to qualify voters.

Appropriation Bill, in Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, (Union,) thought the Committee would hesitate to appropriate any money to pay the railroad companies between New-York and Washington for their services in carrying the mail, which they had not performed. The communication now between New-York and Washington—the commercial and political metropolises of the country—had now become so intolerable, that it ought not longer to be submitted to. There was neither regularity nor certainty in either the transmission of mails or passengers, and the monopolies controlling them had become so powerful as to defy all efforts at reform, and he trusted the existing state of things would tend to a speedy removal of the Capital from the isolated and inhospitable country in which it was now located, to a more central and eligible location. The present Capital was accessible only by a single track railroad, and the railroad companies were known only by their extortions and impositions, both upon the traveling public and the Government. The railroad between New-York and Washington cannot perform the business which the country demands.

The Army of the Potomac remains quiet, and is likely so to remain, unless a great Western General, whom he hoped soon would be made a Lieutenant-General, should be placed in control. Then there would be no danger from rebels or the weather, so far as this Capitaljie concerned. He was glad a select committee had been appointed on the subject of a railroad between New-York and Washington, and felt sure they would perform their duty without fear or favor. The Government had already paid enough to build a single track railroad between the two cities. The railroad companies were perfectly lawless, and a gentleman of New-York had told him they charged the Government four times the amount they required from individuals.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) did not know to what part of the bill the gentleman's remarks applied. A great deal of what the gentleman said was no doubt correct. He did not rise to defend the railroads, but he certainly was in favor of any number of railroads capitalists should make, so long as they did not ask for appropriations or bounties. He did not know whether the railroads were much at fault, with only a single track to facilitate trade between the two points. Railroads have no right to monopolize business unless they do it fairly. Still, he was not quite prepared to denounce the management of these roads because he did not know the facts. The weather had had something to do with obstructing railroad travel, but that was no reason why other railroads cannot be made. The gentleman from Illinois has made the remark that the Capitol should be removed. Now, would it not be better, in view of this, to suspend the building of a new road. He had no doubt the best place for the seat of Government was in the Valley of the Mississippi, and where the water would take more good liquor than any other and still be wholesome. [Laughter.] No doubt there was in the West one of the tallest and greatest soldiers in the world, but he did not see the exact bearing of this on the bill under consideration. As to a Lieutenant-General, he should vote against creating any more. We already have one in retirement.

Mr. WASHBURNE—Are you certain of that?

Mr. STEVENS—I am not certain of anything in the world. [Laughter.]

Mr. WASHBURNE—If you look at the law, you will see that there is no Lieutenant-General. The law was revived for the purpose of allowing the bravest title of Lieutenant-General to be bestowed upon the bravest General of the war.

Mr. STEVENS—I know the title of Lieutenant-General is only by brevet. This carried pay and emoluments, but no command to the present Lieutenant-General, namely, SCOTT.

Mr. PAUL, of New-York, (Dem.,) expressed his surprise that Mr. WASHBURNE had made a general attack on the railroad system, as the gentleman came from a State which profited more than any other by it. Illinois was covered with a network of railroads; capitalists in the North and Middle States had sent thither tens and scores of millions to advance its progress and increase its power. The gentleman also said the railroads had made an attempt to rob the Government.

Mr. WASHBURNE explained that he said many of the companies.

Mr. PAUL, resuming, remarked that they would soon come down to a very small number. He ventured to say that in no part of the world have greater efforts been made to meet the demands of the public than in the United States. He protested against the wholesale denunciation of the railroad corporations, because, in the view of the gentleman, a few of them had attempted to swindle the Government.

Mr. WASHBURNE said he should like to have permission to reply.

Mr. STEVENS thought this irregular debate had gone far enough.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, (Dem.,) offered a proviso to the effect that nothing appropriated in this bill shall be applied to the railroads in Illinois until a special Committee shall be appointed to ascertain how many failures of the mails have taken place from the 25th of December, 1862, to Jan. 5, 1864.

He said the detention and delay of the railroad travel between Washington and New-York was owing to the burning of the bridge at Gravs Ferry, and the freezing up of the Susquehanna. He had seen in the newspapers that frost and snow had produced similar results in other quarters. There had been no connections in Illinois between the two periods stated, and he had just as much right to insist on a Special Committee to investigate this, as others had to order a Special Committee to investigate the failures between New-York and Washington.

Mr. BROOKS withdrew his proposition. The bill was then passed.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE—SPEECH OF MR. ARNOLD.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, the President's Message being under consideration.

Mr. ARNOLD, of Illinois (Union), spoke of the destruction of Slavery as necessary to the restoration of national unity and the salvation of the country. He gave a history of the aggressions of Slavery since the organization of the Government; described the struggle of freedom and Slavery at the ballot-box, resulting in the triumph of freedom and the election of Mr. LINCOLN. Slavery appealed to the sword, and brought upon this country this bloody war and all its evils. Previous to this, Slavery had ruled the nation; it held the purse and the sword; it had made a President, a king, a knight at the White House, a despot in the Senate, and a bully and a tyrant everywhere. It had revolutionized the Government. After impeaching Slavery as the cause of every evil from which the country is suffering, he demanded the judgment of Congress and the people whether it shall longer live. Peace is attainable only through its destruction. Down with Slavery, the traitor, should be the motto of every loyal citizen. How shall Slavery be destroyed? First, in the border loyal States, by the action of the States themselves, carrying out immediate emancipation. Secondly, in all the territories in rebellion, Slavery having been substantially abolished by the Emancipation Proclamation, extend, confirm and carry out that to all Rebel territory. Thirdly, amend the Constitution by prohibiting the reestablishment or existence of Slavery throughout the nation. Mr. ARNOLD spoke of the President, his late Proclamation and services, saying he would live in history as the restorer of the Union and emancipator of his country. Nine and a half millions of bondmen of his dollars. This Emancipation Proclamation has secured to us victory at home and friends abroad. The devil has no bribe big enough to tempt ABRAHAM LINCOLN. He is a diamond in the rough—a radical whose aim is to do the greatest possible good with the least possible harm. It is his great mission to carry out the regeneration of this country by the death of American Slavery. Let him finish the job.

Severity of the Weather—Re-enlistments—The Rebel Lines Thirty-five Miles Distant.

CINCINNATI, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

A dispatch from Chattanooga says that the weather there has been stinging cold for the last three days.

Two soldiers were frozen to death at Bridgeport, Ala., on the 30th ult.

The soldiers are reenlisting.

The rebel lines are 35 miles from Chattanooga.

Affairs in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

By the official vote of the November election, BAYLY, the leading Conservative candidate for the Supreme Court, has 681 majority.

The weather is very cold here. Mercury running from five below to fifteen above zero. There is about a foot of snow on the ground. The sleighing is splendid. Heavily laden wagons cross the river on the ice, and there are no indications of a speedy break-up.

The weather has been intensely cold throughout the State. Many persons, and a large amount of stock, have frozen to death.

Railroad trains are running regularly again.

The Maryland Legislature.

BALTIMORE, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

The Maryland Legislature met to-day, but neither House organized. Caucuses are being held to-night.

OFFICIAL REPORTS OF ADMIRAL BAILEY.

The Navy Department to-day received the following dispatches:

U. S. FLAGSHIP SAN JACINTO,
KEY WEST, Dec. 26, 1863.

Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy:

SIR: I have the gratification of reporting a very important service performed by the blockading force at St. Andrew's Sound, under command of Acting-Master WILLIAM R. BROWN, in destroying a very extensive and valuable quantity of salt works, both at Lake Ocala and St. Andrew's Bay. The circumstances are as follows:

On December 2, a boat was dispatched from the bark Restless, then lying at St. Andrew's Sound, to Lake Ocala, some twenty miles to the westward, where Acting Ensign JAMES J. RUSSELL landed with his men, and marched some five miles inland to KERR's salt works, consisting of three different establishments, and utterly destroyed them. There were six steamboat boilers at this place, cut in half lengthwise, and eleven kettles made expressly for the purpose, each holding 200 gallons. They were in the practice of turning out 120 bushels of salt daily. Besides destroying these boilers, a large quantity of salt was thrown into the lake. Two large flat-boats and six ox-carts were demolished, and seventeen prisoners were taken, who were paroled and released, as the boat was too small to bring them away.

On the 10th of December Acting Ensign EDWIN CARNEY arrived at St. Andrew's Sound, from the East Pass of Santa Rosa Sound, with the stern-wheel steamer Bloomer, and her tender, the sloop Carolina—having heard of the expedition to Lake Ocala—and placed his command at the disposal of Acting Master BROWN for more extensive operations near St. Andrew's. Accordingly, three officers and forty-eight men were sent from the Restless to the Bloomer, and she proceeded to West Bay, where the rebel Government's salt works were first destroyed, and which produced 400 bushels daily. At this place there were 27 buildings, 23 large boilers, and some 200 kettles, averaging 200 gallons each, all of which were destroyed, together with 5,000 bushels of salt, and some storehouses containing some three months' provisions—the whole estimated at half a million of dollars. From this point the expedition proceeded down the bay, destroying private salt works which lined each side for a distance of seven miles, to the number of 193 different establishments, averaging two boilers and two kettles each; together with a large quantity of salt; 507 kettles were dug up and rendered useless, and over 300 buildings were destroyed, together with 27 wagons and five large flat-boats.

The entire damage to the enemy is estimated by Acting Master BROWN at $3,000,000.

Thirty-one contrabands employed at these works gladly availed themselves of this opportunity to escape, and were of great service in pointing out the places where the kettles were buried for concealment. In the meantime, while these operations were going on, Acting Master BROWN got under way in the bark Restless, and ran up to within one hundred yards of the town of St. Andrews, which had been reported by deserters to him as being occupied by a military force for the last ten months, and commenced shelling the place; and some soldiers who made a speedy retreat to the woods. Selecting the weathermost house for a target, the town was fired by the third shell, and thirty-two houses were soon reduced to ashes. No resistance was offered to our people throughout the affair. Acting-Master BROWN speaks in high terms of Acting-Ensign JAMES J. RUSSELL and CHARLES N. HICKS and the 48 men from the Restless, as also of Acting-Ensign EDWIN CARNEY and the six men belonging to the Bloomer, for the prompt manner in which they carried out his orders.

Respectfully, THEODORUS BAILEY,
Acting Rear-Admiral, Commanding, E. G. B Squadron.

A BLOCKADE RUNNER BURNED.

UNITED STATES FLAGSHIP SAN JACINTO,
KEY WEST, Dec. 28, 1863.

Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy:

SIR: It gives me great pleasure to call the attention of the Department to a very important service performed by the schooner Fox, a tender of the San Jacinto, under the command of Acting Master GEORGE ASHBURY. The circumstances are as follows:

On the 20th of December, a steamer was discerned in the mouth of the Suwanee River, apparently at anchor or aground. The Fox immediately beat up toward her, until when within about three-quarters of a mile of the steamer she grounded in eight a half foot of water and opened upon her with the howitzer, at the same time sending an armed boat in to capture the steamer. An attempt was made to intimidate our people by mounting a piece of stove-pipe on a chair to represent a forecastle gun, and a log of wood on a camp-stool for a stern gun, but this device of the enemy failed in its object, and Acting Ensign MARCELLUS JACKSON boarded the steamer, from which everybody had made their escape to the shore. She proved to be a side-wheel steamer, painted lead color, with black smokestack, two masts and a walking-beam engine. Neither cargo, personal effects, papers, nor anything to indicate her name was found on board, but from the description she is supposed to have been the Little Lois, formerly the New Nun, and before that the Fleeting. The water was found running rapidly into the engine room. None of our people were competent to stop the leak, or work the engine. The channel was exceedingly intricate and narrow, and night was rapidly coming on. Under these circumstances Acting Ensign JACKSON set fire to the vessels, agreeably to orders from Acting Master ASHBURY, and in returning to the Fox, pulled up all the stakes by which the channel was marked out for about a mile and a half.

Again, on Dec. 24, a vessel was discovered by the Fox, standing in for the Suwanee River, and after a chase of two hours, and the firing of several shells, she was here to, being ordered by Mr. ASHBURY to send a boat on board. The stranger put his helm up, with the intention of running the Fox down, and came down upon the starboard quarter, carrying away the boat-davits, but doing little damage, as the Fox was immediately kept away. While his vessel was passing off, Mr. ASHBURY directed a rifle-shot to be fired for the purpose of intimidation, but a heavy sea was running at the time, and the bullet took effect on the Captain of the strange vessel, who was at the wheel, passing through his leg but without touching an artery. The vessel was then boarded, and proved to be the British schooner Edwin from Havana, bound to the Suwanee River with a cargo of lead and salt, and was accordingly seized as a prize. In addition to these achievements, I would remind the Department that the Fox was one of the three tenders that assisted the Honduras in capturing the British steamer Mail.

Respectfully,
THEODORUS BAILEY,
Acting Rear-Admiral,
Commanding E. G. B. Squadron.

On the 14th of December, the United States bark Restless captured a small sloop-boat, containing two men, sixteen bags of salt and one box of notions, off Indian River, Florida. The master stated he was from Green Turtle Key, and bound for Dixie.

On the 17th of December the same boat captured at the same place the English schooner Ringdove, 23 tons burden, of and from Nassau, with a crew of five men. Her cargo consisted of 190 bags of salt, three bags of coffee, two half chests of tea and three barrels of whisky. When first discovered she attempted to escape, but on being fired on ran aground on the bar. Both prizes were sent to Key West for adjudication.

THE WAR IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Protection of Navigation—Signal Stations from Cairo to Memphis—Affairs in Texas—Gen. Kirby Smith's Command—Threatened Attack upon Little Rock, Ark.

CAIRO Wednesday, Jan. 6.

As a means for protecting commerce and to render the navigation safe, it is in contemplation by the Government to establish a line of signal stations from Cairo south along the Mississippi River, in order to give information that may prevent depredations by guerrillas.

By order of the Secretary of War careful explorations have already been made between here and Memphis. These stations will each have a small garrison for defence, and signal each other and the gunboats in case of danger.

From parties just from Texas, we learn that the Union feeling is rapidly gaining strength throughout the State and Arkansas. In the portion which my informant passed through, provisions were in abundant, consisting largely of corn, however.

Gen. KIRBY SMITH had superseded Gen. HOLMES, who had been ordered to report at Richmond.

Gen. E. SMITH commands the entire rebel force west of the Mississippi River, with his headquarters at Camden. His forces, which consist of about 15,000 rebels, are represented as being very active in raising and equipping men, with the object of attacking Little Rock, which they felt confident they could attack in force before its garrison was reinforced.

Gens. MARMADUKE and PRICE had six to seven thousand men, mostly cavalry, and were located between Arkadelphia and Little Rock.

The notorious QUANTRELL and CAPTAIN had about 300 men each, and were encamped on Bayou Bartholomew, back of Lake Providence. Gen. HALLECK's order to Monroe, on Washita River, with 1,500 effective men, who were mostly from Arkansas and Louisiana, and if they failed to hold Monroe, he would disband his forces.

The steamer Belle, of Memphis, with Memphis dates of the 4th, has arrived, having the bodies of fifty men of the Fifty-second Indiana regiment, who were frozen to death above Fort Pillow, mention of which has been previously made.

There is no news from below. The Bulletin reports the sale of cotton Saturday, 3700 bales. Good Middling, 78c. Receipts, 7,000. Shipments during the week, 1,700 bales. Three hundred and sixty-nine bales arrived to-day, mostly for Cincinnati, but boats cannot ascend the Ohio, that river being closed above Smithland, and heavy ice is running out at this point.

The Twenty-seventh Ohio veterans arrived here last night from Nashville en route for Cincinnati, on thirty days furlough. The Forty-third and Sixty-third Ohio, and Third Michigan battery, are also on their way. The Ninth Indiana regiment for Indianapolis, arrived this morning. The Thirty-fifth Indiana is ice-bound at Franklin. Three hundred and sixty-five recruits from Springfield arrived to-day.

The weather is still very cold.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

SPECIAL SESSION—WEDNESDAY, Jan. 6, 1864.
1 o'clock P. M.

The Board met pursuant to the following call:

NEW-YORK, Jan. 4, 1864.

David T. Valentine, Clerk of the Common Council:

SIR: You will please notify the Board of Aldermen to meet in Special Session in the Chamber of the Board, City Hall, on Wednesday, the sixth instant, for the purpose of giving expression to the grief experienced by the Board for the death of Archbishop Hughes, and of making the necessary arrangements for attending the funeral obsequies of the deceased prelate.

Aldermen John Fox, First District.
Aldermen Lewis S. Ryers, Ninth District.
Aldermen John McCool, Fifth District.
Aldermen James McMahon, Fourth District.
Aldermen Joseph Shannon, Sixth District.
Aldermen Jesse Hardy, Eleventh District.
Aldermen Peter Masterson, Thirteenth District.
Aldermen Terence Farley, Sixteenth District.
Aldermen Jacob M. Long, Seventeenth District.
Aldermen Peter McKnight, Eighth District.
Aldermen John T. Hetry, Third District.
Aldermen Bernard Kelly, Twelfth District.

Present—Aldermen Fox, Jones, The President, McMahon, McCool, Shannon, Chipp, McKnight, Ryers, Jeremiah, Hardy, Kelly, Masterson, Ottiwell, Farley, Long.

RESOLUTIONS.

Alderman Fox presented the following preamble and resolutions, expressive of the sorrow of the City authorities at the death of Archbishop Hughes:

Whereas, This City of New-York has again been visited by the fell destroyer. Death has again been among us, and this time has struck down one of our most valued citizens, one of the most remarkable men of his day and generation—John Hughes, Archbishop of New-York, has been summoned before the Great Architect of the Universe, to account for the use made of the attributes of greatness conferred upon him by the Creator, which have so distinguished him among his fellow-men, and which have so indelibly placed the mark of superiority upon every act of his life. He died on Sunday, the third instant, at his residence in Madison-avenue, at the advanced age of sixty-five years; and

Whereas, It is manifestly the duty of the Common Council, the representatives of the people of this City, all classes of whom regret the death of this excellent Christian, many of whom will mourn his loss as they would the loss of the head of their own household—to give expression to their sorrow for his death, and to pay their humble tribute of respect to his memory, and to place on record among the archives of the City, their appreciation of the memorable services performed by the deceased, his indomitable perseverance in the cause of truth and justice, his exalted virtues and Christian piety, as well as to leave their aid in transmitting to posterity a record of his noble deeds, his good works, and his disinterested and invaluable services in behalf of the country of his adoption, at a time when such services, he only could render at the Courts of France and Rome, whither he was sent in a semi-official capacity, by the President of the United States, were of such immeasurable value to the nation; be it therefore

Resolved, That in the death of John Hughes, Archbishop of New-York, the country at large has to deplore the loss of a conservative, influential and enlightened citizen; the City of New-York has lost a great and good man; the numerous, intelligent and conservative denomination of Christians of which he was the acknowledged head in this country, has lost a wise, zealous and disinterested counsellor, counselor and guide; the religion of which he was such a conscientious and devoted disciple, has lost an able and powerful advocate, and its peculiar tenets a learned expounder. His death is a great public calamity, for we look in vain for one in any respect his equal, or one as well qualified to fill the place left vacant by decease; and it is idle to deplore his loss, we ask, in all humility, of Him who has thus afflicted us, to raise up in our midst one to fill his place, who shall possess those great qualities that have rendered him so dear to us, so serviceable to his country, and so advantageous to religion and to society.

Resolved, That while we thus give expression to our sense of the loss experienced by our city, our State and our country, by the death of Archbishop Hughes, we are not presumptuous enough to suppose that we are adding in any marked degree to the general sorrow, or that our action will materially add to his world-wide fame, and yet we reserve to his account in those great triumphs of mind over matter that has characterized every important act of his useful life. Sentiments of profound regret will continue to be entertained and expressed by all classes of our citizens; his memory will remain enshrined in the hearts of the inheritors of his faith, for all time to come, and his name and fame will be transmitted to posterity, and be revered even unto the remotest generation. The many edifices he has erected and dedicated to the service of the Living God, the homes for the helpless and dependent orphans he has founded, and the institutions of learning he has established, will remain lasting monuments of his disinterested labors and devotion to the cause of religion and of education, and will continue to retain in grateful remembrance by future generations, the name and fame of JOHN HUGHES, the first Archbishop of the Diocese of New-York.

Resolved, That in his life, we recognize a continued succession of deeds of love and adoration for his divine Master. So in his death we behold the signal for the departure from this sinful world of one who had performed every duty to his God, his country and his fellow-man. The former was a beautiful commentary on the benefits and advantages of our republican form of government, which enable all of his subjects, from the highest to the lowliest citizens, as it did him, from the humblest walks of life, to the highest dignity in the Church and in the State, and to the first place in the affections of the people; the latter will inculcate a moral lesson more impressively grand as we contemplate the advantages of endeavoring to imitate the example of Him who was meekness and love incarnate personified; Him who has promised dignities and honors, such as the mind of man cannot conceive, to those, who, in this life, as did the lamented and venerated deceased, take up their cross and follow Him. From our knowledge of the devout and holy life of the deceased prelate, and the honors and a thousand reality entertained and cherished by him, it is not presumptuous in us to believe, that in his last moments he realized the beatific vision so beautifully and impressively described in the words of "The dying Christian to his soul,"—Blair:

"The earth recedes. It disappears,
Heaven opens on my eyes; my ears
With sounds ecstaphic ring;
Lend, lend your wings, I mount, I fly;
O! Grave, where is thy victory?
O! Death, where is thy sting?"

Resolved, That out of respect for the memory of the deceased prelate, and in consideration of his private virtues and public services, this Common Council will attend his funeral in a body, with their staves of office draped in mourning; that they will cause the flags to be displayed at half-mast on the City Hall and the other public buildings on the day set apart for the funeral rites and ceremonies; that the public buildings and offices of the Corporation be closed on that day, and that a Special Committee of five members from each Board be appointed to make the necessary arrangements for attending the funeral obsequies.

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Common Council is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions to be suitably engrossed, appropriately framed, duly authenticated, and transmitted to the Vicar General, in order that it may be placed among the archives of the Diocese, there to remain as a lasting monument of the esteem and veneration in which the distinguished deceased was held by the Municipal authorities of the City of New-York; and be-it further

Resolved, That as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, this Board do now adjourn.

The President put the question on the adoption of the preamble, and all but the last one of the series of resolutions

Which was unanimously carried.

Whereupon the President appointed Aldermen Fox, McCool, Farley, Long, and Shannon, as the Special Committee on the part of this Board.

The Clerk was then taken up and read the last resolution.

Which was also unanimously carried.

D. T. VALENTINE, Clerk.

Balance to the General Treasury	961,277
Total as above	$4,347,519
The Canal Debt of the State now amounts to	$23,276,479
And General Fund Debt	6,505,654
Total State Debt	$29,784,134

Of this total, only $1,838,027 is held by foreigners. The Canal debt is thus classified:

Under art. 7, sec. 1, of the Constitution	$9,627,794
Under art. 7, sec. 2, of the Constitution	11,040,000
Under art. 7, sec. 16, of the Constitution	642,583
Under art. 7, sec. 12, of the Constitution	2,256,000
Total	$23,276,479

The Comptroller adds the gratifying statement that, notwithstanding the "heavy payments made by the State for expenses incident to the war, amounting to over nine millions of dollars, nothing has been added to the debt, and all the principal which has become due has been promptly paid. It is hoped that nothing will be allowed to interfere with a continuance of this policy, and that a few years more will find the State substantially free from debt. About $2,000,000 of principal will be paid within the present year." He does not anticipate, however, so prosperous a year in 1864, for the Canal revenues; the tolls having fallen off very materially since the 1st October.

There are further signs of a gradual let-up in the Money Market, to-day. Lenders evidently feel better since the receipt of the first installment of the new Legal Tender. The impression is that the Associated Banks will each be left to dispose of these notes to suit their individual convenience. We already hear that some of them are making sales to the public at par and interest. The demand for Money was again active, but the leading brokers appeared to make up their accounts with a fair degree of ease, particularly where the money is not wanted in ordinary Legal Tender to pay into the Treasury. Even this difficulty, it is hoped, will be mitigated in a few days.

The Stock Market continues to act as though an easier supply of Money is certainly now at hand. We have seldom known so decided an upward movement in the Railway speculation on a stringent 7 ₩ cent. Money Market as through the last week or ten days. This afternoon the temper on some of the Western Road Stocks is higher than yesterday, and the general list remarkably firm. On Cumberland Coal the fluctuations of the day are equal to 2¼@3 ₩ cent., compared with the best sales of yesterday. Both the Bull and Bear parties in the present movement are said to have been represented at the special meeting of the stockholders. After the meeting the stock recovered 1½ ₩ cent. of the sudden decline of the morning. The Government Securities and Border State Stocks are steady, and so is the price of Gold and rates of Exchange.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made in comparison with Tuesday night, market closing firm, except on Cleveland and Pittsburg:

The Chicago and Alton Railroad Company have concluded a perpetual lease of the Joliet and Chicago Railroad, the conditions being very advantageous to the former, besides insuring a reduction on the compensation it has paid for the use of the latter during the past year of $50,000. This negotiation virtually places the entire route from Chicago to Alton permanently under the control of the Company.

The Assistant-Treasurer reports the business at the Sub-Treasury to-day as follows: total receipts $2,495,078 94; including for Customs, $1,571,000; payments, $2,756,050 11; balance, $36,731,720 50.

STATE OF NEW-YORK, } ss.
County of New-York, }

On the 5th day of January, personally came before the undersigned, a Notary Public of said County, SAMUEL C. THOMPSON, President, and JAMES GURNEY, Cashier, of the First National Bank of New-York, who being duly sworn, upon their oaths, say that the foregoing is a true and accurate statement of the affairs and condition of said Bank, on the 31st day of December, 1863.

SAML. C. THOMPSON, President.
JAMES GURNEY, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to the day and year above written. CHARLES A. JAMES, Notary Public.

The old Brooklyn Fire Insurance Company, which has an office No. 18 Wall-street, advertise their fifty-ninth half-yearly Dividend in another part of this paper. Their capital and individed surplus is $294,949; their dividends 20 ₩ cent. a year.

Mr. ALBERT H. NICOLAY will hold his regular semi-weekly auction sale of stocks and bonds to-morrow, (Thursday,) Jan. 7, at 12½ o'clock, at the stock salesrooms, No. 52 William-street. For full particulars see his advertisement in the auction column.

The following is the resolution referred to yesterday, as adopted by the Illinois Central Board:

Whereas, The canceled Bonds Scrip issued has had, and is entitled to receive, the same cash dividends as the stock, and the directors believe it to be for the interest of all parties to convert the scrip into shares;

Resolved, That the directors recommend to the shareholders to make said conversion at the next annual meeting, and that no more scrip be issued.

The Atlantic and Great Western Company are now running their express trains, in connection with the Erie Road, from New-York to Cleveland, Ohio, without change of cars, the whole route being on the continuous broad guage. Their office is No. 2, under the Astor House.

The Importers' and Traders' Insurance Company's semi-annual dividend is five ₩ cent., free of Government tax; the Tradesmen's Fire Insurance Company's semi-annual dividend, also 5 ₩ cent., free of Government tax.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS IN THE CUMBERLAND COAL AND IRON CO.:

Your Committee appointed on the 17th ultimo, by a unanimous vote of the shareholders who were assembled pursuant to a call of the Directors, regret their inability to make a full report at this time. If the stockholders now present desire this important investigation to be continued and fully consummated, your Committee will cheerfully pursue it, provided the necessary facilities are placed at their disposal to enable them to do so.

The plan proposed by the Committee was to examine, First, into the financial affairs of the Company—and since the operations of the past has had an intimate and direct influence upon the present results, they have deemed it consistent with their duty and the words of the resolution appointing them to review the operations of the managers for the several years since 1860.

Their purpose, under the second provision of the resolution, was to visit the mines, the residents of the Company at Baltimore, Georgetown, Alexandria and New-York, and after a rigid scrutiny into all your affairs, to be enabled to furnish you correct and reliable information as to the present and prospective value of your property, and, if practicable, to mature some plan by which the history of this work in coming years might present a brighter page than the record of the past results. It is a significant fact that their reports have been almost entirely wanting in the return of the officers of the Company, to furnish the desired information, or to supply any credentials, so that a visit to the mines would not fall of its object; hence this proposed action is still delayed. It is your prerogative to decide whether henceforth you will be kept in ignorance of your own affairs, except when it pleases your representatives to reveal to you, from time to time, or to call upon you for some new sacrifice.

After several unavailing applications, both oral and written, your officers with manifest reluctance, placed in the hands of the Committee on the 31st ult., the last of five papers styled "Condensed statements of the business of the Company for the year ending December 31, 1863," which are herein referred to, and which purport to embrace the transactions up to the 31st day of December, 1863, and published by the managers, as the only material from which your Committee can at this time frame a partial report.

Relying on the assurance of your President, "with the hearty cooperation of the stockholders, they had been enabled to discharge the debts of the trust, and to bring the business into a regularly organized system, and to carry it on in a satisfactory manner." They also reported that on the 31st of December, 1863, their available "resources for the liabilities" were $111,864 61 and, from the statement which the Company had been placed in regularly trying a position by the cooperation of the stockholders, your Committee propose to report upon the facts which these papers furnish.

It was the wish and duty of your Committee to carefully analyze the items of expenditure, especially the item of "Disbursements for Expenses, &c., at Baltimore, New-York office," amounting in the aggregate to $177,238 78, and the item of legal expenditures, $33,457 07.

This purpose has been defeated by the officers of the Company, in refusing to give any detailed statements, upon the ground that "the Directors had received, and have entertained, with the charges, and that any review might lead to trouble." The mention of a single unexplained discrepancy will exhibit the unsatisfactory character of the papers. On the 31st day of December, 1860, the company had on hand mined coal to the value in dollars, $21,064 56. The statement of 1861 shows that the coal was debited as of same date at only $8,465 56, or at a loss of $14,599, or nearly two-thirds of its stated value.

In regard to the results of the operations of these past years the statements set forth the following facts: The receipts during these years (i. e. for 4 years and 11 months preceding Dec. 1, 1863) from the sale of 507,905.42 tons were $1,630,631 68, and an equal amount has been disbursed. These statements do not furnish to the Committee any data in reference to the cash transactions of your officers so as to enable them to form any idea as to the present necessities of the Company, which necessities have impelled them to propose the increase of the First Mortgage Bonds from $283,000, as they stood issued on the 31st of Dec., 1858, to $400,000; and also the issue of $200,000 Second Mortgage Bonds at 60 per cent. of their par value to mature in five years—thus increasing the permanent debt of the Company $274,000. This increase, together with the absorption of the available resources of the Company in hand at the time above stated, amounting to $111,864 61, exhibits the heretofore undeveloped fact, that in the operations of the Company for 4 years and 11 months, and for the needs of the future, new means have been or are required to the extent of $385,864 04. The statement of these disbursements arranged under several distinct heads, as viz: Distributed at New-York for Expenses, &c.; Distributed at Baltimore; Distributed at Georgetown and Alexandria; Interest paid; Distributed at the Mines; Legal Expenses.

In 1860 the profit on your business of 158,068 tons was $7,903 40
In 1861 the loss on 88,911.18 tons was $44,747 44
In 1862 the profit on 67,758.04 tons was 3,140 62
For 11 months of 1863 the profit on 91,449.06 tons is stated to have been 9,763 60
$47,503 42 $25,003 84
Showing a net loss of $22,799 58

The Committee do not pretend to be able to reconcile the real discrepancy between this statement of losses and that set forth in the large increase of indebtedness referred to. Future investigation should be made to reveal all the facts.

As the rate of profit for the eleven months of 1862, to wit, 60,000 to 91,449.06 tons, and this the most prosperous and profitable of all the preceding years in the company's history, would be insufficient to meet the present the annual claims upon the Treasury, and to pay 7 ₩ cent. on the capital for the Company, to increase the product of their mines at least 4,000 tons, which would make the product 4,400,000 tons per annum, and this in face of the estimates of the President that the product this year may not reach 50,000 tons.

For, henceforth, after the negotiation of the $200,000 Second Mortgage Bonds, the funded debt of the company will be $667,000 00

The annual claims upon your Treasury will be as follows:

Interest, 6 ₩ cent. on above amount	$40,020 00
Sinking Fund to provide for the payment of this principal in fifteen years (average per annum)	33,133 00
Sinking Fund to repay $300,000 borrowed for five years, at 60 ₩ cent. of par value	40,000 00
In order to pay a dividend of 7 ₩ cent. on the capital of $5,000,000, it will require	350,000 00
In the aggregate annually	$463,153 00

Less the amount of interest accruing upon the Sinking Fund, which cannot now be estimated.

To mine and transport such an amount of coal as a return corresponding with the past, in order to meet these demands annually, even if the demand for coal could be made equal to such a supply, seems almost impossible. Therefore it becomes the stockholders to discover by careful examination whether it is possible, by virtue of a wiser policy, or if needs be by the use of new and more efficient agencies, or by the sale of a portion of their estate and the corresponding reduction of capital, or by other means ever to realize an income from their investments. It will be observed that during the past 4 years and 11 months, the Company has produced 507,905 tons of coal, which gives the product of this mine has averaged only 23 14-100 per ton, while in 1860 the average was 26 85-100 per ton, and yet that during the year 1860 at this increased rate of 43 67-100 per ton, upon a largely increased tonnage, the net earnings of the Company were $1,500 00 less than in 1863.

The Committee repeat that they cannot, from the papers before them, explain these glaring discrepancies. One of two propositions seem to be pertinent.

Either the management of your affairs has been grossly at fault in all past time, or there are causes inherent in the character of your property and works, which forever forbid the prosecution of the business of mining coal with a profit sufficient to meet the present necessity for immediate action? Must they be called upon to sacrifice their interest as shareholders by raising money for the short period of five years, at a discount of 20 per cent., without any reasonable, reliable assurances that at the expiration of that time they will not be called upon to read a history similar to the one now presented? The Committee deem it strange that the singular course pursued by the managers has rendered a full report upon all the points at issue utterly impossible. The large expenditures in New-York for office expenses, the enormous counsel fees and the whole financial working system of the Company should be made the subjects of the most rigid examination. Strict economy should be practised in every department; each employee from the President to the humblest operative, should recognize and feel a personal responsibility and accountability for his every act; and unless this is done the fair promises of to-day will be no more realized than have been the bright visions which made your year in 1859.

Mr. E. T. H. Gibson having been unable to serve as a member of this Committee, at his suggestion Mr. CHAS. KELLOGG was appointed in his place. Referring to the annexed statements and copies of letters addressed by the Committee to the officers of the Company, this report is respectfully submitted by

L. J. VANDYKE, JR., } Committee.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The Navy Department was yesterday in receipt of official dispatches from Rear-Admiral Bailey, commanding the East Gulf Blockading Squadron, detailing some very important operations in which a portion of his force had lately engaged. An expedition or series of expeditions, under the direction of Acting-Master Browne, of the bark Restless, had ex lored the waters of Lake Ocala and the West and St. Andrew's Bays, landing repeatedly, and destroying the very extensive salt-works from which the rebel Confederacy has mainly received its supplies. Nearly two hundred of these salt-boiling establishments, with their boilers and manufactured stock were destroyed, and the value of the property is estimated at $3,000,000. The town of St. Andrew's which was occupied by a rebel force, was shelled and burned to ashes. In the Suwanee River, the United States schooner Fox had surprised a blockade-running steamer, which she could not bring out, and was compelled to burn. The Fox had also captured the British schooner Edwin, attempting to run the blockade.

Gen. Kirby Smith has succeeded the Rebel Gen. Holmes in the command of the Trans-Mississippi Department, and has established his headquarters at Camden, Ark. His force is estimated at 15,000, who are said to be engaged organizing forces attack upon Little Rock.

On the 30th ult., an expedition composed of the First regiment North Carolina Volunteers, under command of Col. McCreerry, left Newbern for Greenville. On the evening of the 31st, a rebel force was encountered and a fight resulted. Both sides were evidently surprised. A portion of our force, led by Lieut. Adams, made a charge upon the enemy, putting him to flight, killing a Lieutenant and five men, taking ten prisoners, and capturing one cannon and caisson, with the horses of the battery. Lieut. Adams was killed in the affair, and five of our men were wounded.

CONGRESS.

Both Houses got comfortably at work yesterday. In the House of Representatives Mr. Kelley was excused from serving on the Select Committee on a National Bankrupt act. Mr. Brandegee's resolution for the appointment of a select committee to consider the feasibility of a new railroad route from New-York to Washington, was adopted. The municipal authorities of Washington are urged by resolution to take measures for the prevention of the spread of small-pox. Mr. Farnsworth, of Illinois, offered a resolution extending the time for the payment of bounties to March 1, which, after discussion, was passed unanimously. A resolution, offered by Mr. Swear, of Maine, was passed, authorizing an investigation, by a scientific Board, into the construction of naval vessels. The expediency of including nine months' volunteers in the coming draft is to be considered. The Secretary of the Navy is required to communicate the reason of the delay in distributing prize-money. The House, in Committee of the Whole, considered the Post-office Appropriation Bill, which drew out a spicy discussion on the miserable postal and traveling arrangements between New-York and Washington—intensified by the recent experiences of a large number of Congressmen. The bill was finally passed. The consideration of the President's Message was taken up. Mr. Arnold, of Ill., spoke at length, warmly indorsing the President's views, and arguing the total extinction of slavery as a necessity to the complete salvation of the country. Adjourned.

In the Senate, Mr. Johnson, of Maryland, presented the petition of Susan W. Hatch, asking compensation for slaves taken into the military service. The Select Committee on the Pacific Railroad was appointed, with Mr. Howard, of Michigan, as Chairman. The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of Mr. Powell's bill to prevent interference in the State elections by military officers, which he wished referred to the Judiciary Committee, but which, after discussion, was referred to the Military Committee. After receiving the House bill, for bounties for volunteers, and passing it to a second reading, the Senate adjourned.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate, yesterday, the President announced several Standing Committees, and a memorial was presented from Henry A. Low, claiming the seat for the Ninth Senatorial District. A number of bills were introduced relative to the Metropolitan Police Commissioners; to legalize the acts of Supervisor's in raising and paying bounty moneys; to amend the Constitution so as to allow soldiers to vote; to incorporate a company to build a Ship Canal around Niagara Falls. A short Executive session was held, and the Senate adjourned.

In the Assembly, also, a great many bills were noticed, and resolutions introduced. Among the latter was one calling upon the Police Commissioners for information which bears upon prostitution in this City, with a view to alleviating or regulating the evil; also, tendering to Gen. Geary the thanks of the people of the State, for his distinguished services. A resolution in acknowledgment of the services of the late Archbishop Hughes, and honoring his memory, gave rise to debate and was tabled.

GENERAL NEWS.

A meeting was held in the Board of Trade Rooms in Boston to take the preliminary steps toward forming an organization to aid emigration from Europe.

The steamer Hope, from New-Orleans, which arrived at St. Louis on Jan. 1, reports that on the night of the 23d ult., when passing Napoleon, Ark., the entire town was enveloped in flames, and a large number of persons were standing on the bank of the river. She did not land, as it was not known whether the town was in possession of the national authorities or had been taken and destroyed by a guerrilla band.

Among certain articles dug up at Yorktown, Va., by Northern soldiers, last Winter, the Hartford Times says, was a small red stone, which, upon cleaning, proved to be a garnet; and a further inspection revealed the interesting fact that it had once formed a part of the signet-ring of the Marquis de Rochambeau, the liberty-loving commander of the French army in this country, who acted in concert with Washington in plans which won for us the battle of Yorktown. It contains the noble Count's motto in Latin, and his family crest.

A New-Orleans letter says the sugar crop has all been brought safely from the Teche country, and the same process is going on in the vicinity of New Iberia, where the Nineteenth army corps is encamped. Along the river all is quiet, the guerrillas having suspended operations for want of arms. Quiet reigns throughout the State, and many of the troops will be sent to Texas.

The Montreal Transcript of Saturday says that Justice Smith rendered judgment in the case of Redpath against the American Consul General, Hon. J. R. Gidddings, on Thursday. The judgment was given at great length, and went to sustain the capias, and, as a consequence, hold the bail—Mr. Harrison Stephens and Mr. Ira Gould—good for the appearance of the defendant, and the damages, should such be given. The affidavits placed on the record by defendant's counsel were ordered to be struck off as irrelevant and calumnious.

Gen. Thomas was honored with a dinner in Philadelphia, on Tuesday evening, previous to starting on another tour through the Southwest to look after the contrabands.

Capt. Meade, who so gallantly defended the gunboat Marblehead during the attack of a rebel battery in Stono River, S. C., is a nephew of Gen. Meade, commander of the Army of the Potomac.

Rhode Island filled up her quota under the present call before Christmas, and is now at work anticipating the next one.

A professorship of modern languages has been founded in Yale College, by Mr. Augustus R. Street, of New-Haven.

The Stock Market continues firm and the Money Market active. Gold steady yesterday at 151¼@¼; Exchange 166 ⅌ cent. The subscriptions to the Popular Loan are drawing to the close of the Five hundred millions, only $45,000,000 remaining unsubscribed.

Flour opened tamely yesterday, but closed more firmly, with an improved inquiry. The Grain market was generally depressed. Provisions, Whisky, Tallow, Hay and Wool were in good demand. A moderate business was reported in Cotton, Sugars, Leather, Fish and Tobacco. Freights were less active, with 549 vessels of all classes in port.

The Losses of War—How they are to be Replaced.

Economists have always spoken of "efficiency" of labor as one great source of wealth—that is, the application of forethought, invention and industry to production, so that the greatest possible result is obtained for the force applied. It is this peculiarity of American labor which is so rapidly now replacing the losses of this war, and which is each day opening new sources of wealth. To many minds both here and in Europe, the financial condition of this country, during this fearfully wasteful war, has been a mystery and an anomaly. How a nation could be throwing into the sea, as it were, several hundreds of millions every year, and not be plunging into bankruptcy and ruin, was something at first inexplicable to students of finance and economical science.

Expenses of living, it is true, owing to the tariff and the depreciation of the currency, have greatly risen, yet the great and wonderful fact remains that the principal source of our wealth still exists in immense surplus; in other words, the production from agriculture, even with a million of laborers unemployed and fed at the public expense, has been greater than ever before. We have fed the army, our own people, and, to a certain extent, the population of Europe, and still have so much surplus that flour, maize and beef are not so high as they have been often in former years.

Nothing will explain this astonishing fact but what has been called the "efficiency" of our labor; that is, the application of brain to labor under the most unusually favorable conditions. Here, almost for the first time in the history of the world, we have a rapidly advancing population, an increasing capital, boundless material advantages in our alluvial soil and water communications, and a constant application of improvements to agriculture. The conditions for production never existed to such a degree in any country. Already we discover that the teeming brain of the Anglo-American has filled the gap made by the withdrawal of a million of laborers by machines of agriculture, so that production in proportion to the demand remains as large as ever. No doubt, too, the high rate of wages has called out a great deal of comparatively idle and unproductive labor, and turned it to the most profitable employment.

Along with this constant filling up of the losses of war, we begin to discover that other veins of wealth are opening, which will go far to remove from us some of the burdens of our national debt. The cotton lands of the South, as they are opened and protected by our armies, are becoming as El Dorado to the fortunate Northerners who have cultivated them. We hear already of fortunes rapidly made by enterprising Yankees on the Mississippi and near New-Orleans, such as the history of Peru or California could hardly equal. These accounts may be exaggerated, but there can be no rational doubt that the cotton and sugar plantations, under freed labor and during the high prices of these staples, will pour in a flood of wealth upon the country.

It must be remembered that freed labor is more "efficient" than slave labor; that the emancipated slaves work more steadily under Northern employers than Southern; that Northern capital will inevitably flow into these districts, and that the price of cotton must be high during the long and gradual close of the war, which now seems probable. With such conditions, a small territory may reap profits which were once enjoyed by the whole South. Or, accepting Cobden's theory, that the whole surplus wealth of the South was always the produce of a comparatively few plantations under slave labor, our people having possession of these very plantations, may obtain from the world a vastly greater profit than used to flow to us from the whole Southern expert.

Similar facts are also beginning to present themselves in California and the neighboring districts. The mineral wealth which is opening in the veins of the Rocky Mountains and their numerous spurs, is represented by trustworthy observers, as beyond all calculation. Immense fortunes are being made each day in some of the mining districts. Some of the largest mines have come into the possession of the most solid and careful associations, who employ talent and capital, without stint, to extort the boundless wealth which lies hid in them. It is safe to say that a vast increase of wealth will flow into the country during the next twenty years from this source alone. All these prosperous undertakings will besides, augment another great source of our wealth—immigration—so that in the years succeeding the waste and loss of this war, we may reckon on such an increase of production in the United States as has never been known in human history. Providence will heal the wounds of the nation, and justify by its material blessings a war which has been fought for principles.

Gov. Seymour on "Wise Statesmanship" and "Conciliatory Policy."

Gov. Seymour devotes all the latter portion of his message to an indictment of the Administration for not manifesting a "wise statesmanship" and a "conciliatory policy." Like all men factiously inclined, he is very careful, however, to confine himself to general phrases. He does not indicate the particular line of "statesmanship" which wisdom demands, nor the particular "policy" which is to secure conciliation. He goes in for a milder form of war, especially as relates to Slavery, but does not show, nor attempt to show, how such mildness would promote loyalty, or hasten peace. He either does not know, or he affects not to know, that it depends altogether upon circumstances whether forbearance is wisdom or weakness; whether mildness is a lure to peace or an encouragement to resistance.

Much that Gov. Seymour says concerning the burdens and evils of the war is applicable to all war; and, though he does not so avow it, is simply an argument for peace at any price. War, in its very nature, is a hard power. There is no such thing as engaging in it without terrible sacrifices; and there is no possible justification of it except its purpose be to avoid sacrifices more terrible yet. For men who believe in the war at all, the only real question is, whether the war is conducted in the way best calculated to secure a speedy and solid peace.

Gov. Seymour had a right to discuss this question in his Message, if he would do it directly and firmly. He does nothing of the kind. He imputes to the President ends in prosecuting the war which he has most explicitly declared he does not entertain. He says—or if he does not say it directly, he, with characteristic indirection, so phrases it as to convey the impression—that the President denies the revolted States a political existence, and is for treating them as new territories, whereas in his late Amnesty Proclamation, the President expressly declares that its object is to "reinaugurate loyal State governments," and expressly sets forth that "in constructing a loyal State government in any State, the name of the State, the boundary, the subdivisions, the Constitution and the general code of laws as before the rebellion be maintained, subject only to the modifications made necessary by the conditions hereinbefore stated." The Governor's representation of the doctrines and purposes of the Administration on this point is a complete and disgraceful perversion. It may be true that there are individuals who think and feel as Gov. Seymour declares; but for that the Administration is not responsible, and no honest man would ever think of using it as a reproach against the Administration, in the teeth of its own official language.

Again it is charged upon the Administration, that "it is insisted that the war shall be prolonged by waging it for purposes beyond those avowed at the outset." Now Gov. Seymour has a perfect right to differ from President Lincoln in respect to the expediency of the Emancipation Proclamation, as a means of restoring the Union; but he has no right to say that the President's adoption of that means proves him false to that original and exclusive purpose of the war. The President opens his preliminary Emancipation Proclamation in these words:

"I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States of America, and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy thereof, do hereby proclaim and declare that hereafter as heretofore, the war will be prosecuted for the object of practically restoring the constitutional relation between the United States and each of the States, and the people thereof, in which States that relation is, or may be, suspended or disturbed."

President Lincoln issued that Proclamation against Slavery, because he believed that Slavery, as it had been the cause of the rebellion, was the great incentive to persistence in the rebellion, the main source of strength to the rebellion, and the chief hindrance to a return to loyalty from the rebellion. He, therefore, was entitled by his war power to destroy it as a means of destroying the rebellion. The majority of the loyal people of the country have approved the application of this means. It is not necessary that Gov. Seymour should join in that approval; but it is necessary, if he wishes the name of an honorable opponent, that he should refrain from charging upon the President a betrayal of the object of the war. It is beneath any man even in the lowest position—immeasurably beneath a Governor of the State of New-York—to stoop to this wretched demagoguism. It is not possible that Gov. Seymour does this thing ignorantly. He is not an idiot. He has mind enough to know that men may agree as to the end, and yet disagree as to the means—and that the adoption of new means does not involve any change in the end.

President Lincoln's policy for sustaining the Union is to break down Slavery which rebelled against the Union. Gov. Seymour's policy is to save Slavery, and to conciliate it, by holding out that it has only to stop fighting the Union to be again safe. President Lincoln has to show for his policy the States of Maryland, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, and Western Virginia, secured and confirmed to the Union, since the issue of his Emancipation Proclamation. What has Gov. Seymour to show for his? He and his comrades have constantly been proclaiming that the "conciliatory" policy was the true policy, and yet they have not succeeded in eliciting a syllable from Jeff. Davis or any responsible man in the "Confederacy," in the slightest degree indicative that conciliation was either desirable or possible. On the contrary, the language of these rebels from the start has been that of unmitigated hate and unyielding defiance. The Emancipation Proclamation has not changed that spirit one tittle. From the beginning these rebels have known that they were playing a desperate game; and nothing on earth ever could or ever will prevent their holding on to it to the very last extremity. To talk of "conciliating" Jeff. Davis and his crew is no more rational than to talk of conciliating the pirate or the highwayman. Nay, less rational. The Governor, when he went that Sumner afternoon among the murderers and incendiaries in City Hall Park, and called them "his friends," and sympathized with their complaints, and promised them satisfaction, did at least succeed in getting great cheers for Horatio Seymour, though the murders and the fires went on all the worse afterward. But, for two livelong years, he has been calling the red-handed rebels his "brethren," and has sympathized with their complaints, and has promised them satisfaction and he has not obtained even a nod of recognition—nothing but silent contempt.

The Chesapeake Murderers.

We copied, on Tuesday, from the Toronto Globe, a very temperate analysis of the law of the Chesapeake case, in which the writer says, speaking of the crew:

"Having got the men back, the question remains, what is to be done with them? Their fate must, to a great extent, depend upon their character. If they acted under a duly authorized commission from Jeff. Davis, they cannot be treated as pirates. But if they were not commissioned, then they must suffer the penalty which attaches to their crime. It matters little practically, whether they killed the engineer of the Chesapeake in self-defence, or whether they murdered him in cold blood, the mere fact of an unauthorized seizure of the vessel is the main point in the case. It was a capital offence, an act of piracy, and all our interests as British subjects demand that the perpetrators should be punished. It is not a question with us as between North and South. With that we have nothing to do. All we have to care for, is the vindication of our own law."

This is all very true. The question for the British authorities is, simply and solely, whether the seizure of the vessel was or was not made under the orders and personal direction of an officer commissioned by Jefferson Davis. If it was not, then it was an act of piracy, committed on board an American ship, and they ought either to be tried for it, and dealt with according to law, by the Nova Scotian Courts, or else delivered to us. If it was, we have, of course, nothing to say, except what we have always said, by way of protest against the concession of belligerent rights on the sea to a Power which has not yet been able to fit out a single vessel-of-war in its own ports.

But, as between us and the Confederacy, it makes no difference whatever whether the pirates were regularly commissioned or not. The killing of the Second Engineer was, in any case, a deliberate murder, and the volleys fired at the Captain were an attempt at murder, and they are both punishable as murder, whether the captors of the ship were pirates or soldiers. The Chesapeake was not a fighting ship—the Captain and crew were non-combatants, and made no attempt at resistance. The Second Engineer was slaughtered simply because he refused to work the engines, and the Captain's life was attempted apparently in sheer wantonness. The perpetrators of these deeds are, therefore, both by our laws and the laws of war, liable to punishment as criminals whenever we can lay hands on them; and if they return into the Confederacy, we are entitled to ask either for their delivery to us or their punishment by the rebels themselves. If these demands are not complied with, we are entitled to retaliate. If we do not make them, we virtually concede to Semmes, Maffit and all the rebel rovers, the right to murder the crews of the prizes they capture, or spare them at their option. If the laws of war justify the killing of the Engineer of the Chesapeake, they will justify the Alabama or Florida in throwing American sailors overboard whenever their presence seems likely to embarrass their captors, or to necessitate a stronger guard than can be spared. We sincerely trust that our Government has no intention of even tacitly sanctioning such monstrous doctrines. The killing of an unarmed man, especially if he be a noncombatant, whether ashore or afloat, is just as much murder in time of war as in time of peace. And the status of the murderer does not in the smallest degree change the character of the act. We hope this point in the case will be brought prominently forward in any discussions which may arise out of it between the authorities on both sides; so far the press has taken no notice of it.

The Comptroller's Report.—We print, this morning, an abstract of the report of Hon. Lucius Robinson, State Comptroller. It is a clear and business-like document. The State finances, owing to the heavy war expenditures, are not in so easy a condition as formerly, but everything is sound, and the General Fund Debt is not increasing. Most of the Comptroller's suggestions are very proper and sensible. His arguments against disturbing the system of taxation at present are forcible. What we want is not a new system, but a better enforcement of the present one. There are several of his recommendations which should receive the serious and early consideration of the Legislature.

The Bounties to Volunteers.—We presume it is generally known that all bounties to volunteers from this State beyond the State bounty of seventy-five dollars, authorized by the Act of the Legislature of 1862, whether paid by cities, counties, towns, villages or individuals, are really illegal, being in violation of the law mentioned, which, for the purpose of securing a uniform bounty throughout the State, prohibited all corporations and individuals from paying any other bounties. But the late calls of the President for more troops have necessitated extraordinary exertions to raise the men, and nearly every corporation in the State has paid extra bounties. Hence that bills have very promptly been introduced into the Legislature to legalize the acts of these corporations, and thus give validity to the ordinances upon which the money has been obtained.

The Metropolitan Fair.—The ladies of the Executive Committee of the Metropolitan Fair for the U. S. Sanitary Commission have received the loan of Mr. Charles H. Russell's house, corner of Broadway and Great Jones street, where they have their office and receiving depot. The location is very central and convenient.

Amusements.

Academy of Music.—The performance of "Faust" last evening by the German artists attracted another overflowing audience, proving once more that the non-production of this work at the commencement of the season was a grave and unfortunate blunder. However, it is never too late to mend. A few such houses as that of last night will place the enterprise on a firm footing.

In consequence of the continued indisposition of Mr. Anschütz, that gentleman's place in the orchestra had to be taken by Mr. Bergmann. The baton could hardly have passed into abler hands. The performance was in every respect excellent, and will be repeated on Friday next. Boildieu's opera of "La Dame Blanche" is in preparation, and will be produced early in the next week.

Max Maretzek's Opera Company are singing to immense audiences in Boston, creating the same furore in that city that they did in Philadelphia.

Red Tape Barbarity.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Saturday evening last, the coldest day of this Winter, a fine horse was driven furiously about the City in a butcher's cart, and, slipping, dislocated his shoulder, in or near the intersection of Sixth-avenue and Fourteenth-street. His driver unharnessed and turned him loose on the spot, to fare as best he might with cold and pain in the stony street, through all that bitter night. He, poor animal, could scarcely move at all, and was unable even to lie down. In that horrid state he had remained up to 10 o'clock last Monday night. His shoulder and whole right leg was horribly swollen, and his perspiration froze on him as it was wrung from him by his pain. The sight was, indeed, heartrending. The pen of Sterne alone could adequately paint it. Hundreds witnessed it, and many longed to relieve his sufferings or put him out of his misery. The police would suffer nothing to be done, and themselves did nothing. The roundsmen were repeatedly begged to kill him or remove him to some stable, where he could be cared for. More humane gentlemen begged to shoot him on the spot, and eagerly offered to do it themselves and abide any pecuniary penalty. They were told they would be put in prison forthwith should they do so. The policemen dared not do it; all they could do, they said, was to report him, and they had reported him. Some kindhearted people from time to time fed him, and occasionally a blanket was put on him. Of course, this well-meant kindness only served to prolong his life and his sufferings together. And, so from Saturday until 10 o'clock Monday night, that poor horse stood, unable to lie down, unable to move, suffering at once intense cold and intense agony, on one of the busiest and most thronged thoroughfares of this Christian City, but reported.

What may be the law or regulation on the subject I neither know nor care. It was the duty of the first roundsman who saw the horse abandoned in that hopeless and helpless state to have shot him, and then caused him to be removed. Humanity would have held him guiltless, and the voice of the public would have held him harmless.

As for the man who exposed this horse, all I can say is that no pains should be spared to arrest him, and that he should be made to feel the severest penalty the law allows.

Where the fault lies in the neglect of this terrible case, I do not know. But in the name of humanity, I beg that it may be ascertained, and an effective remedy applied. The country has but lately rung with eloquent denunciation of the brutality of a prize fight, perpetrated by lawless men, contrary to law, but in some measure palliated by public opinion. This brutality was perpetrated by the officers of the law, according to the law, though outraging every type of public opinion.

Such instances of brutality to the helpless animals who serve us are becoming very common. They should be stopped. If the law is defective, amend it. If the police are remiss, punish them. Good men should interest themselves in this matter. In Great Britain there is a rich and powerful Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. There is need enough, heaven knows, of such an agency here. Let us all remember—

"He prayeth best who loveth best
All things both great and small;
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all."

MASONIC ANNIVERSARY.

Independent Royal Arch Lodge No. 2, Free and Accepted Masons.

The one hundred and third anniversary of Independent Royal Arch Lodge was held at Dodworth Hall last evening, upon which occasion a large number of invited guests, ladies and gentlemen, were present to witness the impressive ceremonial of an installation of officers.

Heimsmuller's Band entertained the audience with a choice selection of airs. Mr. Edward Miller, the organist of the Lodge, executed with fine effect an original grand march. Mr. John H. Arnold was installed as Master by Past Master R. W. R. P. Hazzo, at present Master of Washington Heights Lodge, No. 590. The Wardens were inducted into office by the Master elect, after which Past Master Hazzo installed the Treasurer, Secretary, Senior and Junior Deacons, Tiler and Appointed Officers. During the ceremonies of installation, increased interest was given by the admirable execution of the Coronation March, "Il Bacio," and a chorus and march from "Faust."

Master Arnold, in an eloquent address, drew a historical sketch of the origin of the Order, and of its symbolic language and emblems, so far as such exposition could with propriety be intrusted to a public assemblage. In conclusion, he delineated the character of Free Masonry in its relation to social and national life.

The history of this Lodge is deeply identified with that of the Republic. It was originally composed of members of an English regiment stationed in this City, and was chartered by the Provincial Grand Lodge of New-York, under the Grand Lodge of England, on the 15th of December, 1763. For a lengthened period Washington and Lafayette were regular participants in its proceedings. Upon the establishment of American Independence, the charter was surrendered to the Grand Lodge of England, and a new one obtained from the Grand Lodge of the State of New-York, to which organization it has rendered an undeviating allegiance. The records remain intact since the year 1763, those of the previous period having been destroyed by fire. Until 1796, the Lodge retained the power to confer the Royal Arch degree, in remembrance of which its clothing and insignia are scarlet and white, instead of blue and white. Annexed is a list of the officers elect:

John H. Anthon, Master; Edward Coward, Senior Warden; Henry D. Walker, Junior Warden; George H. Gardner, Treasurer; Charles A. Cook, Secretary; Charles A. Rudd, Senior Deacon; Erastus Wilson, Junior Deacon; Francis W. Tweddinger, Rev. George Nixon, Masters of Ceremonies; Eugene Fisk, Chas. T. Jung, Stewards; Rev. Fred. C. Ewer, Rev. Frank Remington, Chaplains; Edward Miller, Organist; James M. Lattimer, Marshal; F. D. Whitmore, J. W. Warner, Augustus Frost, Trustees; Sewell Fisk, Tiler.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Standing Committees for the Senate.

BILLS NOTICED AND INTRODUCED.

SENATE.

Albany, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

Mr. Bell presented a memorial from Henry R. Low, claiming the seat for the Ninth Senatorial District. Referred to the Committee on Elections, Messrs. Bailey, Folger and Shafer.

The President announced the following Standing Committees:

On Finance—Messrs. Bell, Cornell and Niven.

On Railroads—Messrs. Argall, Williams, Wright, Hoffman and Woodruff.

On Cities and Villages—Messrs. Andrews, Lambert, Strong, Shafer, White, Dutcher, and Fields.

BILLS NOTICED.

By Mr. Lamberti—Relative to the Metropolitan Police Commissioners.

Also, relative to the National Guard, first division.

By Mr. Cornell—To incorporate the Missionary Society of the Most Holy Redeemer in the State of New-York.

Also, to establish a National Law Library in New-York.

By Messrs. Folger and Bell—To amend the College Land Grant Act of last year.

By Mr. Cornell—To establish the "Cornell" Library.

Also, to extend the Chemango Canal in the Pennsylvania State line.

By Mr. Ames—To incorporate a company to build a Ship Canal around Niagara Falls.

On motion of Mr. Munson, a resolution was adopted instructing the Judiciary Committee to propose a bill legalizing the acts of the Supervisor's in raising and paying bounty moneys, and to repeal the model last year prohibiting the same.

Mr. Murphy introduced resolutions in conformity with the resolutions adopted at the last session to relieve the Court of Appeals by the appointment of a Commission. Laid on the table.

Mr. Folger introduced resolutions in conformity with the proposed amendment to the Constitution adopted last year, allowing the soldiers to vote. Laid on the table.

The Senate then held a short Executive Session, and at its conclusion adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

Albany, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

BILLS NOTICED.

By Mr. Robinson—To elect military officers in the United States service.

By Mr. Pratt—To fix the salary of Police Justices in Brooklyn.

By Mr. Ovgany—Relative to tenement houses in New-York.

By Mr. Bryant—To incorporate the Metropolitan Savings Bank.

By Mr. Jacob L. Smith—To license retail drug stores in New-York City.

By Mr. Burke—To prohibit non-residents from holding stands in Washington Market, New-York.

By Mr. H. E. Palmer—To extend the election franchise to volunteers in the army and navy.

By Mr. Pratt—To amend the statute relative to Inspectors of Election in Kings County.

RESOLUTION.

By Mr. A. Andrews—Concurrent resolutions agreeing to the amendment of the Constitution, allowing soldiers to vote. Laid on the table.

By Mr. Pinckney—Calling upon the Police Commissioners for information which may tend to alleviate or regulate the evils of prostitution in New-York. The resolution was adopted.

By Mr. Rees—Tendering to Gen. Geary the thanks of the people of the State of New-York for his distinguished military services. Laid on the table.

Mr. Ovgany offered resolutions to the memory of Archbishop Hughes, acknowledging his services to his country abroad, rendered at a period when the nation needed just such assistance as he alone could give, and that in respect to his memory the State flag be displayed at half-mast on the day of the funeral.

The resolutions giving rise to debate were laid over. Adjourned.

The New-Hampshire Republican Convention

PRESIDENT LINCOLN INDORSED.

Concord, N. H., Wednesday, Jan. 6.

The New-Hampshire Republican State Convention, to-day, adopted a series of resolutions, sustaining the Administration, urging a vigorous prosecution of the war, expressing confidence in the integrity and financial fidelity of Secretary Chase, and recognizing patriots and traitors as the only two parties. The following was also adopted:

Resolved, That Abraham Lincoln, by the exercise during the severest trials and most dangerous crisis in the nation's history of unequaled sagacity and statesmanship, of a moderation and prudence which experience has shown to be the highest wisdom, by his spotless integrity of personal character, above reproach and above suspicion, and by his slowly formed, yet unalterable determination, that the triumph of the Constitution and the Union over secession and treason, shall be the final triumph of liberty throughout the nation, has received and merited the abiding confidence of the people to an extent never awarded to any other public man since Washington; that the best interests of the country demand that the complete restoration of the rebellious States, of the restoration of peace, prosperity and the Union, should be achieved under his administration of the Government, and that we therefore declare Abraham Lincoln to be the people's choice for reelection to the Presidency in 1864.

The resolution was carried with thunders of applause, the delegates rising to their feet and waving their hats with the wildest enthusiasm.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

Harrisburg, Penn., Wednesday, Jan. 6.

The Governor's Message is ready, and he is undecided whether to send it to the House, or to wait until the organization of the Senate is effected. The matter will be determined this evening. The Senate is still unorganized, the imprisonment of Col. Wharton at Richmond causing a tie vote. Neither party in the Senate seems willing to make any compromise.

In the course of an animated discussion to-day, Mr. Lowry said that a rebel Major captured by us had gone to Richmond to get a discharge for Col. Wharton, but had failed, as Jeff. Davis knew his value too well. Mr. Turrill declared on the highest authority that soon after the election, the Secretary of War made efforts to obtain the exchange of Mr. Wharton, but Mr. Ould, the rebel agent, refused to give him up.

Harrisburg, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

In the Senate, to-day, the eleventh ballot for Speaker resulted in a tie vote. Adjourned.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, Wednesday, Jan. 6.

The Massachusetts Legislature convened to-day.

Hon. Jonathan E. Field was elected President of the Senate, and Hon. A. A. Bullock Speaker of the House—the same as last year. Rev. Wm. A. Stearns, President of Amherst College, delivered the annual sermon in the Old South Church.

The Governor's Message is not expected to be in till Friday.

The Maine Legislature.

Augusta, Me., Wednesday, Jan. 6.

The State Legislature organized to-day. George E. Bateman, of Oxford, was chosen President of the Senate, and N. Dingley, Jr., of Lewiston, Speaker of the House. Gov. Coney will be inaugurated to-morrow.

The Chesapeake Pirates.

St. John, N. B., Wednesday, Jan. 6.

In the Chesapeake case, to-day, the evidence of Barnes Hennessy, Second Mate of the steamer, was taken, and occupied the whole day. He identified the prisoners. No new features were elicited. The Court adjourned until to-morrow.

Arrivals in the City.

Hon. E. M. Irish and G. W. Cass, Pittsburgh; Capt. W. J. Moorehead and wife, U. S. A.; M. Fardee, Oswego; Daniel L. Crocker, Taunton; L. H. Forsyth, St. Louis; and John T. Cump, Philadelphia, are at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Col. A. C. Hazard, Conn.; A. J. Drexel, Philadelphia; H. Morgan, Aurora; and Capt. Wm. Pratt and servant, U. S. Navy, are at the Astor House.

Col. Hagan and officers of the Massachusetts regiment, H. Hotchkiss, Walcottville; W. H. Bradford, Providence, and Jacob Bunting, Philadelphia, are at the Metropolitan Hotel.

Lieut.-Col. Perkins, U. S. Army; Lewis E. Tuapan, Colorado; John Morris, England, and Albert Baldwin, New-Orleans, are at the Fifth-avenue Hotel.

Capt. Fraser, H. B. M. Sixty-third regiment, and Chas. E. Hunt and wife, Montreal, are at the Clarendon Hotel.

American Institute Polytechnic Association.—The regular weekly meeting of the Association will be held this Thursday evening, January 7, at 7½ o'clock, at the rooms of the Institute, in the Cooper Union Building. Subjects—New Inventions and Discoveries; Electricity and Magnetism; Manufacture of Illuminating Gas. Admission free.

S. D. Tillman, Chairman.

E. Cauvet, Secretary.

OUR NAVY.

FAST STEAMERS BUILT IN 1863.

Splendid Success of all the New Fleets.

Names of the Vessels and an Account of Their Rates of Speed.

On the first day of January, 1864, the United States possessed the fastest navy in the world. The chief vessels composing it have all been constructed during the year 1863. It affords us great pleasure to be able to enumerate these vessels, and to name the rates of speed which they have attained, in order to call to the success which has attended the energy and perseverance of our Government in its determination to have ships-of-war capable of rapid movements.

As early as 1860 the Navy Department became impressed with the necessity of having a fleet of formidable steamers able to steam with velocity, and whose success in the more gratifying from the fact that all previous efforts on the part of our authorities in the same line had proved disastrous failures.

Congress was asked to make an appropriation for the construction of five immense propellers, and it did so. The vessels were the Niagara, Wabash, Colorado, Minnesota, and Merriman. It is no exaggeration to say that in all respects these vessels were absolute and unmitigated failures. The Niagara alone was remarkable for any speed, and in her famous race with the Agamemnon, the then "crack" ship of the British navy, won the applause of English and American naval constructors. The Wabash cost over a million of money, and after all could not be kept in a seaworthy condition, having been finally cut down to the water's-edge, and plated with iron. The Merriman was getting out of repair every six weeks during her cruise in the Pacific. The Colorado was equally unfortunate, and if the Minnesota and Wabash were less conspicuous, their usefulness had been of a very secondary character. The failure of these vessels was attributed chiefly to their great size; and Congress and the Secretary of the Navy endeavored to repair the damage done the country by building these vessels, in the construction of another fleet. This consisted of

Name.	Where built.	Tons.	Guns.
Lancaster	Philadelphia	2,260	16
Pensacola	Pensacola	2,158	16
Brooklyn	New-York	2,070	16
Hartford	Boston	1,990	16
Richmond	Norfolk	1,928	16

In point of seriousness these fleet was by all odds the most valuable ever constructed for the navy of the United States. The names of the vessels comprising it have gone into history, and when future generations shall read of the opening of the Mississippi River and the capture of New-Orleans, the Brooklyn, Pensacola, Hartford and Richmond will excite astonishment on account of the immense battering they received without serious result. But in point of speed these vessels were not remarkably successful. They can all, of course, steam nine knots an hour, but we doubt whether any of them have made more than 10. The Pensacola has been peculiarly unfortunate, in consequence of some blunders made in her machinery by parties who are now criticising the Government without measure. The Brooklyn was the only ship of the class built by contract, and she is probably the best of the lot. The Richmond rolls dreadfully—in fact, worse, as much as any iron-clad vessel yet launched. After the completion of this fleet, the Government were so well satisfied with their success—which was somewhat erroneously attributed to their comparative smallness—that another fleet of steamers was built, which may be called half gunboats and half screw sloops. They are as follows:

Name.	Where built.	Tons.	Guns.
Mohican	Portsmouth, N. H.	994	5
Narragansett	Boston	994	5
Iroquois	New-York	1,016	5
Pawnee	Philadelphia	1,289	6
Wyoming	Philadelphia	997	6
Dacotah	Dumbarton	1,000	6
Seminole	Pensacola	991	5

These vessels succeeded remarkably well. The Seminole was a failure, because the material put in her hull was bad; but none of them, except the Iroquois, made more than ten nautical miles an hour. That vessel, however, made from ten to thirteen nautical miles an hour—a speed which was then unprecedented in our navy, but which the last year has thrown into the shade. The Mohican, Wyoming, Dacotah and Narragansett have been the most successful cruisers, proving how admirably both their hulls and machinery were built. The Iroquois was also very successful. The Pawnee was an admirable sea boat, but her machinery was badly built in Philadelphia, and its failure was erroneously thrown on the entire ship. Beside these, a side-wheel steamer, called the Saginaw, was built at the Mare Island (California) Navy-yard, and was more of a failure than any vessel ever built for the United States Navy, it having been impossible to fire her guns without shaking her to pieces.

The above fleets constituted the entire steam naval force of this country, excepting a few purchased steamers, at the time the war broke out. The first want perceived by Secretary Welles, when he took charge of the Navy Department, was a number of shallow vessels, capable of navigating the rivers of the South. He at once went to work and built the following fleet of gunboats:

Name.	Where built.	By whom.
Ottawa	New-York	J. A. Westervelt.
Pembina	New-York	Jas. Stack.
Seneca	New-York	J. Brangan.
Chippowa	New-York	Wood & Bells.
Winona	New-York	C. & R. Poillon.
Unadilla	New-York	John Engle.
Tioga	Philadelphia	John Lynn.
Sciota	Philadelphia	John Birely.
Huron	Boston	Gilman & Brooker.
Chocura	Boston	Paul Curtis.
Sagamore	Boston	Curtis & Tilden.
Katahdin	Boston, Me	Reuben Simpson.
Marblehead	Newburyport	Lacrabee & Allen.
Paoma	Washington	C. H. Jno. Thatcher, Jr.
Pinola	Baltimore	J. A. Abpelmann.
Kanawha	East Bedden	H. C. & W. H. Goodspeed.
Owasco	Mystic River	Mason, Fish & Co.
Kennebeck	Thomaston, Me	C. W. Lawrence.
Penobscot	Belfast, Me	J. Simpson.
Rhine	Portland, Me	J. P. Byer.
Cayuga	Portland, Conn	Gildersleeve & Son.
Penobscot	Belfast, Me	C. P. Curtis.

These craft were hurriedly got up, having, we believe, been entirely finished in something like three or four months. Speed was not considered one of their indispensable attributes; and the contractors for their hulls and machinery had only ordinary work to do. Under the circumstances, they did it pretty well, and the vessels are now all on active service, none of them having proved an absolute failure.

Another fleet was then built by the Navy Department, at the different navy yards. No particular orders were issued to have them fast; and, if any of them has gone over the average rate of speed, it was mostly by chance or by presumption. The following is the fleet:

Name.	Where built.	Tons.	Guns.
Kearsarge	Portsmouth, N. H.	1,020	13
Oneida	Portsmouth, N. H.	1,020	13
Shenandoah	Charlestown, Mass.	1,020	13
Wachusett	Charlestown, Mass.	1,020	13
Juniata	Philadelphia	1,020	13
Tuscarora	Philadelphia	1,020	13
Adirondack	New-York	1,020	13
Oneida	New-York	1,020	13

We now come to the efforts of the Government to build fast vessels. The first adventures of the Alabama so startled the commercial public that there was a general outcry for fast war vessels. This was early in 1862, and the Navy Department set at once to work to provide a fleet capable of overhauling and catching her. We built three types of vessels. The first, a fleet of screw sloops, are as follows:

Name.	Where built.
Ticonderoga	New-York.
Lackawanna	New-York.
Canandaigua	Boston.
Shenandoah	Philadelphia.
Saratoga	Portsmouth, N. H.
Monongahela	Philadelphia.

It is in the experience of these vessels that we must look for their success or failure. It matters little to the public and to the Government whether they are provided with this or that technicality, so long as they have been fast, and as fast as could be expected. The Lackawanna, after having repaired a temporary accident which occurred at the Brooklyn Navy-yard, went to sea and made over 13½ and 13¼ miles an hour for 15 and 20 hours at different periods, and the record of those facts may be found in the Navy Department at Washington. The Ticonderoga was still faster, having made no less than 14 knots an hour, as is stated in a letter received by Mr. Delano, the Naval constructor of the Brooklyn Navy-yard, from one of the engineers of the ship. The vessel left St. Thomas, West India Islands, for Philadelphia, on a given day; and from that time until her arrival at her destination, made, whenever her officers pleased to put her to her speed, 14 nautical, or 17 ordinary miles an hour. This is a speed unequaled in all vessels constructed for this Government, and marks an era in the history of our navy. The Shenandoah was somewhat unsuccessful in her initiatory attempts to leave Philadelphia, but having got fairly to sea, is doing very well. The Saratoga, built at Portsmouth, N. H., has made 12 nautical knots, or 14 ordinary miles an hour, as may be seen in a letter from Capt. Bosco, her commander, to a distinguished officer at the Brooklyn Navy-yard. The experience of the Monongahela, and the exact speed made by the Shenandoah, we have no facts about; but as they were built on exactly the same principle as the Saratoga and Ticonderoga, to nothing save imperfect building of their engines or hulls must their failure be traced. If they had failed in speed, however, we should have heard it; and the impression is general that they are making 11 or 12 knots an hour. From the Canandaigua, built at Boston, we have a letter stating that she made for eleven hours consecutively, twelve nautical knots an hour. This—the first fleet built for speed, has been a most admirable and decisive success, and it is impossible to consider the hurried manner in which the vessels were built without awarding great praise to those who conceived and executed them. It may be right to say, that they were built at navy-yards, which, of course, is a strong argument in their favor.

Another fleet of side-wheel steamers was built for river service, many of them being double-enders; but they were not built for speed, yet each and every one of them has been most successful in cruising; the Port Royal having frequently made 12 nautical knots an hour; the Sonoma, which was here a few days since, very often steamed 13 nautical knots an hour; and we understand that the Tioga and Octorara are equally successful. The names of the vessels are as follows:

Name.	Where Built.
Tioga	Boston.
Tuscarora	Boston.
Sonoma	Portsmouth.
Mahaska	Portsmouth.
Paul Jones	Baltimore.
Port Royal	New-York.
Miami	Philadelphia.
Cimarona	Bordentown, N. J.
Octorara	New-York.
Conasmough	Portsmouth.

The next class of vessels to be named should be treated most critically, as Government conceived them with the determination to make them fast and issued the most stringent instructions to the contractors to insure that characteristic. They are not intended to be ocean steamers generally, being intended more for coast service, chasing privateers, cruisers, &c. They are as follows:

Name.	Condition.	Known Speed—Knots.

Agawam	Tried	12

*Or seventeen miles an hour.

They are all of 974 tons burden, 240 feet long, 35 feet wide and 12 feet deep, being all moved by side-wheels. We regret to say that the hulls of those which have been built by contract are, as a general thing, miserable failures. A few weeks since the writer succeeded in knocking half the hatch off with a single kick of a strong boot, but this fault must be laid at the door of the contractors, and of the officer who received them on the part of the Government, because the vessels built on the same plans by navy-yard constructors are some of the finest specimens of naval architecture executed in this country. We believe the Shamrock, Mackinaw, Peoria, Algonquin, Tacony, Sassacus, and others of the class built by naval constructors, are capable of going to sea for any length of time, in the roughest weather. The failures of the hulls of some of the vessels has nothing to do with their speed. Four or five of them have been tried, and as the same principle is carried out in the construction of all, those to be completed will succeed as well as those which have been tried. The Sassacus has made seventeen ordinary miles an hour, with the current against her, but in comparatively smooth water, and her engines were not working to their extreme force at all. Her commander feels confident that she can make, in ordinary weather, a like speed at any time. The Agawam was sent from Portsmouth, N. H., to chase the Alabama, and before she got into exceedingly rough water, made eleven and twelve knots easily. The Butah, which has been for some time at Washington, having experiments tried on board, has made thirteen knots; and the Osceola is equally successful. Several vessels which we have put down as not tried, have had their engines working alongside of the wharves; such are the Massasoit and others. The experiments with them, thus far, are highly successful, and show that there is not the least doubt of their making as good speed at sea as their predecessors. It should be remembered that the incidents cited are pure, unvarnished facts, substantiated by direct testimony from the vessels at all times. It is a source of extreme gratification to be enabled to show such a favorable record of our navy, particularly at a time when we are commencing the construction of two fleets of powerful vessels destined especially for speed. Twelve of these are to be built at navy-yards and the others outside. If they should succeed the trials of which we have been examining, the United States may stand before the world, patiently awaiting the advent of future Alabamas.

TRIAL TRIP OF A NEW STEAM YACHT.

A new and handsome steam yacht, built at Greenpoint for Mr. Jaccoz of this City, made her trial trip yesterday, having on board a select party of invited guests, the builders of the vessel, and the constructor of her engines. The machinery, we understand, was built by Mr. Dickenson of this City, on his own peculiar plan, and the test of it will, therefore, be a matter of considerable interest to the public and the press, particularly at the present time. No invitation, however, was extended to the members of the press, which accounts for the non-appearance of the result of the trial to-day. We believe the vessel made a trip a few weeks since which was very unsuccessful, but this is only rumor, as none of our reporters were on board. The hull of the vessel is most magnificently shaped, and is constructed with considerable stability. The interior fitting up of the saloons and apartments is of the most gorgeous description.

NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES.

The NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES is published THIS MORNING, and may be had at the counter of the publication office, in wrappers, ready for mailing. Price Five Cents.

In addition to the latest intelligence by telegraph up to the moment of going to press, there will be found in the current number full details of all military movements in the different departments, from the pens of our special correspondents. Also, all official orders, reports and documents, and the latest and fullest Washington news. European news, with graphic letters from our correspondents in London and Paris, giving the tone of public feeling abroad, is made a special and permanent feature. In addition to Editorials on all the current topics of the day, the WEEKLY TIMES has 8-page of carefully prepared commercial matter, giving the latest financial news and market reports; items of agriculture and domestic interest, compiled from sources many of which are otherwise inaccessible to the American reader; and marriages and deaths of the week.

The "WEEKLY REVIEW," or news summary—being a special synopsis and digest of the news of the day, both rebellion and general—is alone worth double the subscription price to the paper, as it preserves in a condensed and conveniently classified form all news of interest, and must prove valuable as a record in all time.

The WEEKLY TIMES will be sent to subscribers in any part of the country on the following terms: One copy one year, $2; three copies one year, $5; ten copies one year, $15; twenty copies one year, $25. To any one who will send us a Club of Twenty, the SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES will be sent gratuitously for one year. To any one sending us a Club of Fifty, the DAILY TIMES will be sent gratis for one year.

Beside the above great story, the NEW-YORK WEEKLY is now publishing a splendid romance, entitled "WHITE EAGLE, THE AVENGER; Or, THE BRIDE OF THE SETTLEMENT," by FRANCIS S. SMITH, and another most exciting serial, entitled "MARIE BERTRAND; Or, THE PRIOR'S DAUGHTER," from the pen of HORATIO ALGER, Jr. Added to all which, it gives weekly from EIGHT to TWELVE first-class sketches of different varieties, a large number of fine POEMS, and a variety of departments of a useful and entertaining character, including "PLEASANT PARAGRAPHS," "CHEERFUL MOMENTS," "KNOWLEDGE BOX," "ITEMS OF INTEREST," etc., etc., etc., the whole going to form a family newspaper which, as is freely admitted by all who take it, has not its equal either in this country or the old. THE U. S. SANITARY COMMISSION
Is in urgent want of funds. Its operations for the relief of the army were never more extensive and effective than now. Its depots and agents are at every military centre, from Washington to the Rio Grande. The money value of the supplies it issued to the Army of the Potomac during and immediately after Gettysburgh, exceeded seventy thousand dollars. Its issues at Chattanooga were on a like scale. Thousands of men needing special relief are daily cared for in its "Homes." Its steamboats and wagon trains follow our soldiers everywhere. Its other and equally important departments of work, Sanitary Inspection, Hospital Inspection, Hospital Directory, Transportation of the sick and wounded, &c., are in full operation. The cost of the Sanitary-saving work is but one-forty-five thousand dollars per month. Its funds are now much reduced, and immediate contributions are requested to sustain it.
The Fairs that have been got up with such admirable and unprecedented energy and success at Chicago, Cincinnati and Boston, though reported everywhere as for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission, have not as yet contributed a dollar to its treasury. The large sums thus raised have been received by the branches of the Commission at those cities respectively.
These branches apply them most usefully, mainly to the purchase of material to be made up into clothing, bedding, &c., and for like purposes. They thus relieve the treasury of the Commission from the necessity of purchasing supplies belonging to certain classes. But they render no aid to any other department of its work.
Those who desire fuller information as to the organization, method and cost of the Commission are referred to a statement of its structure and of the application of its funds just published, copies of which may be had on application at the office of the United States Sanitary Commission, No. 823 Broadway, or at the bookstore of A. D. F. Randolph, No. 683 Broadway.
It is submitted to all humane and patriotic men that the Commission has proved, and is daily saving lives the country cannot afford to lose: what it is doing to economize the life and health of our soldiers is worth to the country ten times the money the Commission has received, and is of direct practical importance to every one interested in diminishing the cost and the duration of the war.
Contributions may be sent to the Treasurer, at No. 68 Wall-st., or No. 823 Broadway, New-York.
By order of the Standing Committee,
GEORGE T. STRONG,
Treasurer United States Sanitary Commission.

HEAR.
HARLEM, July 20, 1863.
I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. Von Eisenberg operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

TESTIMONIAL FROM ONE OF THE MOST RESPECTABLE CITIZENS OF NEW-YORK.
DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED.
No. 439 SIXTH-AV., NEW-YORK, Dec. 2, 1863.
I was deaf for several years, and hearing of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I was induced to place myself under his care, and I am now happy to state that my hearing was entirely restored after a short treatment. I was also suffering from chronic catarrh, of which I was also cured by the skillful treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg. I do but justice to the Doctor in stating that in treating me he displayed that skill and knowledge which have already procured for him such a deserved reputation, and that the principles which direct his system of curing Deafness and Catarrh are such as to render success certain, in my opinion. Many months have passed since Dr. Von Eisenberg restored my hearing, and it continues as good as ever.
C. HOPKINS.

CATARRH CURED.
NEW-YORK, Aug. 7th, 1863.
I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a soreness and a dropping. Dr. Von Eisenberg has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. Von Eisenberg's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. Von Eisenberg, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.

CHICAGO AND GREAT EASTERN RAILWAY COMPANY,
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
FOR $2,000,000.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED WITH Messrs. SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, Bankers, No. 21 Nassau-st., New-York.

The Chicago and Great Eastern Railway Company now offer for sale one million one hundred thousand dollars of their first mortgage bonds, in sums of one thousand dollars each, maturing in thirty years, bearing interest at the rate of Seven per cent. per annum, payable in the City of New-York, on the first days of April and October, in each year.

These bonds are secured by a first and only Mortgage on the property, income and franchises of the Railway Company, executed to Frederick Schuchardt and Henry Morgan, of the City of New-York, Trustees.

The remaining nine hundred thousand dollars of the Bonds are on apportionment, remain in the hands of the said Trustees, for the purpose of being exchanged for the indebtedness of the Chicago and Cincinnati Railroad Company, running from La Crosse to Ingansport; this effected, the $2,000,000 will form a First and only Mortgage on a line of road 120 miles in length, extending from Chicago to Lonsingport, where it connects with the Cincinnati and Louisville Air-line Railroad, forming the shortest line by 40 miles, between Chicago and Cincinnati, and by 30 miles the shortest line between Louisville and Chicago.

It will also open, in connection with roads now in operation, entirely new and very direct lines from Chicago to New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and all Eastern cities. The distance between Chicago and New-York by this route being shorter than by either of the existing lines via Dunkirk or Buffalo.

The road is now under contract, and the most strenuous efforts are being made to have it open for traffic during the Summer of 1864.

The interest on the Bonds maturing during the progress of the work has been provided for, and will remain on deposit with the Bankers of the Company, Messrs SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, No. 21 Nassau-st., to whom the Company refer for further particulars, and where subscription books for this loan have been opened.

W. A. KISSAM, President.

No. 32 WILLIAM-ST., NEW-YORK, Dec. 22, 1863.

$2,000,000 LOAN OF THE COUNTY OF NEW-YORK.

Subscriptions are hereby invited to a Loan of Two Million Dollars, authorized by an ordinance of the Board of Supervisors, approved by the Mayor October 31, and entitled "An ordinance for the procurement of Substitutes for drafted soldiers for the armies of the Union, provided the same can be counted and allowed on the quota of the City and County of New-York in any future draft."

The proper books for such subscriptions will be opened at the Comptroller's office, on and after TUESDAY, the 17th day of November instant, and remain open until the whole sum shall be taken.

Subscribers will be required to deposit with the Comptroller, or in the Broadway Bank, within five days after entering their subscriptions, the amounts subscribed for by them respectively, and on presenting his receipts for the money to the Comptroller, they will be entitled to receive Bonds of the County for equal amounts, redeemable on or before June 1, 1864, with interest from the date of payment at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 2 Lispenard-st., without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. DR. WARD, from the Hospitals of London, Paris, and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 20 years' practice he has cured thousands of secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment that all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other one or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, and it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his great experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige endeavored without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to DR. WARD, 2 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send, or write for a circular.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSor to Dr. Ward, established with Dr. Wade, No. 80 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Venériens Paris, where these afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of these complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores lost life to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal disease, possessing the most certain, speedy and only efficacious remedies in the world, guaranteeing a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established 20 yrs. Those who have used their preventives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their advertisements. Postage free on receipt of 6 stamps. Cures warranted.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH restored in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and impediments to marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be used by those about to marry, who have to lament. Young men are particularly subject to that peak and body-destroying disease, secret habits! Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Call at WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 80 Lispenard-st., between Broadway and Church-st., New-York.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED AND those about to be married.—Dr. A. M. MAURIceau's Production of Diseases of Women and Children, published the 150th edition of the valuable book, entitled "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. In the beautiful language of the accomplished District-Attorney of this city, A. Oakey Hall:
"The whole effect of the play is so ethical, that I wish the philanthropists of the day, who so shamefully neglect the Prison Aid Society, and who so culpably leave the care of the returned convict to his pals, could see the Ticket-of-Leave and your acting. The two should run together in the City far beyond New-Years; and you should not receive your actor's 'ticket-of-leave' until every clergyman and boy in the Metropolitan Police District had seen the impersonation of the scenes between Brierly and Willoughby."

THE STATE FINANCES.

Abstract of the Annual Report of the Comptroller.

We have received the Annual Report of Hon. Simeon Ransom, Comptroller of the State of New-York. It is a very interesting document, but we have room only for an abstract of its principal features. The Comptroller introduces his report, by repeating that "the Government of this State is organized upon principles of strict economy. Its ordinary and necessary expenses are very light. A property tax of less than one mill upon each dollar of the valuation would be sufficient to pay them. And yet, with a tax four times that amount, the close of the last fiscal year found the treasury overdrawn, and the General Fund, revenue heavily deficient. This arose from the large appropriations made by the Legislature for objects outside of the ordinary business of the Government, the extent of which could not be anticipated, and for which no reliable estimate could be given."

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

The receipts on account of the General Fund Revenue for the last fiscal year were $6,549,[illegible] on account of ordinary payments, $6,826,861 65; deficiency, $1,276,767 17. There will now have been paid for interest on bonds of the State, $[illegible] for canals, $[illegible] for the Canal revenues for the year ending Sept. 30, 1863, the payments were $[illegible], and the receipts, $4,347,618 82. Of this expense there has been paid to the sinking fund $[illegible] to defray expenses of the Government, $[illegible] remainder, $[illegible]. The entire cost of the State to Canal Fund, $29,278,490 28; General Fund Debt, $[illegible]; total, $[illegible]. The interest on the debt is about 5½ per cent.

CANAL REVENUES.

The last three months of the season of navigation in 1862, caused the revenue of the fiscal year to exceed that of the preceding one, meeting all the requirements of the Comptroller and leaving a "surplus" amounting to $[illegible]. A large part of this, as well as of the previous year, was appropriated for "extraordinary repairs," instead of being applied, as recommended in my former report, to further taxation consequent on the canals. The result is, that within the same time we are pledging the overflowing revenues the people are compelled to pay direct taxation during the present year, $[illegible] for interest and sinking fund of the canal debt, $[illegible], besides other large items of interest and ordinary canal expenditures. It is difficult to see the wisdom or justice of such a policy.

Since the close of the fiscal year the canal tolls have fallen off heavily, owing, in some degree probably, to the opening of the Mississippi River, and, in a large degree, to the diminished demand for our produce at Europe. There is, consequently, much reason to expect a deficiency, instead of a surplus, on the last of October next. The season of navigation, compared with the previous year, shows a falling off in the receipts of more than half a million of dollars.

THE STATE DEBT.

Notwithstanding the heavy payments made by the State for expenses incident to the war, amounting to over nine millions of dollars, nothing has been added to the debt, and all the principal which has become due has been promptly paid. It is hoped that nothing will be allowed to interfere with a continuance of this policy, and that a few years more will find the State substantially freed from debt. About $[illegible] of principal will become payable this year.

REVENUE

Applicable to the ordinary expenses of Government and other purposes.

Four and one-fourth mill tax for ordinary expenses of Government, for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1863.

Four and one-fourth mill tax for support of Common Schools, 2 mills; for the Albany Railroad, 3-10 mill; for bounties, 1 1-10 mills; for the Albany and Susquehanna Railroad, 3-10 mill.

Balance due from Comptroller's account of the State Treasurer on account of tax levied in 1862	$6,000,000 00
Auction duty	100,000 00
Hat duty	75,000 00
State Prison earnings	200,000 00
Arrears and interest of taxes of the public officers	10,000 00
Pedlers' licenses	2,500 00
Sale of the Cayuga Lake	600 00
Interest on the Treasury	180 00
Interest on bonds of the City of New-York	30,000 00
Given the surplus revenue provided per Art. 7, Section 3, of the Constitution, for the General Fund	35,000 00
Total	$6,660,380 00

[illegible] ESTIMATED EXPENSES.

The total estimated expenditures for the fiscal year ending Oct. 1, 1863, are $[illegible], including the deficiency, in lieu of an estimated surplus on the 30th of September, 1864, of $127,114 69. The principal items of estimated expenditure are:

Salaries of all elected officers and Legislature at the Capitol	$[illegible]
State Printing	100,000 00
Expenses Salt Springs	44,000 00
Expenses State Prisons	320,000 00
Albany and Susquehanna Railroad	250,000 00
Redemption of Comptroller's bonds issued for temporary loans in anticipation of the State tax for public defence	2,000,000 00

Charitable institutions	205,856 00
Miscellaneous expenses	50,000 00
Amount of the three-eighth mill tax levied in 1862, and appropriated for canal purposes	530,056 36

THE VARIOUS FUNDS.

Capital of the School Fund	$2,604,522 23
Revenue of the School Fund	356,315 39
Literature Fund, Capital	260,002 12
Literature Fund, Revenue	16,207 87
United States Deposit Fund, Capital	4,014,826 71
United States Deposit Fund, Revenue	261,463 79

AUCTION DUTIES.

The whole amount received is $108,604 67, being more than 25 per cent above the amounts received in either of the two preceding years. This gratifying increase is to a large extent due to the vigilance and fidelity of the agent employed to examine the auctioneers' accounts.

SALT DUTIES.

The revenue from the trifling duty of one cent a bushel is $91,039 72, and from rents, penalties, &c., $[illegible], making in the aggregate $94,979 72. The expenses were $40,476 38, leaving a surplus of $54,503 35. If the duty had been raised to three cents a bushel, as recommended in my former report, the surplus would have been $214,192 61. The recommendation is respectfully renewed.

CAPITOL GROUNDS.

The Legislature at its last session provided for the purchase of the grounds and buildings adjoining the Capitol, and fronting on State, Hawk and Congress-sts. The appropriation for the purchase was $[illegible]. The several parcels have been bought, and the title conveyed to the State for prices amounting, in the aggregate, to a little less than that sum.

STATE PRISONS.

The receipts continue to show a gratifying increase over former years. For the year ending 30th September, 1863, the receipts were $267,125 30, and the expenditures $236,251 37. As usual, the Auburn prison shows a considerable surplus after paying all its expenses, and illustrates the excellent management which has characterized it for several years past. The improved results of the Sing Sing and Clinton prisons also afford satisfactory evidence of faithful and efficient administration. The number of convicts in the prisons has continued to diminish ever since the commencement of the war.

THE SUPPLY BILL.

The Comptroller, in very strong terms, denounces the "Supply Bill," which has superseded the former Deficiency bill, and urges its abolition. He says it has degenerated into a simple means of robbing the Treasury.

BOUNTIES TO VOLUNTEERS.

The bounties paid from the State Treasury to volunteers within two years exceed the sum of $[illegible] millions of dollars, and the amount is daily increasing. The burden thus imposed upon the taxpayers is greatly augmented by the unsettled and irregular practices which have prevailed in regard to local bounties. The General Government pays such bounties as are deemed necessary to enable it to raise the men who are required to fill up its armies. The State then offers a further bounty, the counties another, and not unfrequently the cities and towns another. The aggregate sum thus becomes so large as to excite cupidity, and leads to the perpetration of numerous and gross frauds; and it is very questionable whether the grand object of obtaining soldiers is promoted to a much greater extent than it would be by the payment of only one liberal and uniform bounty by the General Government. To prevent the evils arising from this local competition, the Legislature, after full and careful consideration, passed the act chapter 164, Laws of 1863, appropriating $3,000,000 from the State Treasury for bounties, and expressly prohibiting any county, city, town, or individual from offering any other. But upon the recent call of the President for an additional volunteer force, most of the counties and cities proceeded, in open disregard of the law, to offer large bounties in addition to those of the National and State Governments. If the Legislature shall conclude to sanction and legalize the action which has been had in this respect, and if it is found impossible, as it seems to be, to restrain the local competition by law, it is respectfully suggested that the act above referred to should be repealed, and let the matter of bounties be left wholly to the local authorities. They will then pay such sums, and impose upon themselves such taxes for this purpose as they think proper, and will act in accordance with the interest of all concerned.

THE STATE MILITIA.

The organization of the militia under the new law has proved a failure. The expenses were expected to be defrayed by the collection of fines for non-attendance. Only about $70,000 was thus collected. The payments have been very heavy, amounting, together with the appropriations for arms, uniforms and other expenses, to nearly a million of dollars. In connection with these facts it is worthy of note that the regiments of militia, which were always ready and abundantly able to preserve public order, and which have signally distinguished themselves in this war, and have repeatedly and promptly moved forward to the battle-field at the call of their country, were, almost without exception, raised, organized, equipped and drilled under the old militia law, and with very little expense to the Treasury of the State.

HARBOR AND FRONTIER DEFENCE.

The appropriation of one million dollars by the last Legislature for this purpose has not been exceeded. The chief design of the act was the protection of the harbor of New-York, but as the General Government is doing this so completely there is no occasion for the State to make any outlays. An effort was made to provide some further floating connections in the harbor, but the bids for the work were so exorbitant that the Commissioners declined to consider them and no thing was done.

SPECIE PAYMENTS.

The Comptroller holds to his recommendation of last year that the interest on the funded debt should be paid in coin. But the Legislature resolved to pay foreign holders only in coin. This is regarded by domestic holders as invidious. The argument used against it is that the State never went into the foreign markets to negotiate its stocks; never made any of them payable abroad, as some other States have done; that all of them were made payable in the City of New-York, and all were purchased here on equal terms, whether by foreign or domestic purchasers, and that consequently the State really has no foreign creditors, and that one has no rights in the matter which the other has not. Two-hundred and eighty-seven thousand seven hundred dollars of the principal became due on the 1st of January, of this amount $[illegible],800 is held in foreign countries.

TAXATION.

The Comptroller, in response to a request of the Legislature, to present in this report such recommendations as he thought necessary to improve the system of taxation in this State, sums up his conclusions in the following remarks: "First, that it would be most judicious to abstain from any extensive changes in our present system until public affairs become more settled, and the results of the experiments made by the General Government in the various forms of taxation are more fully shown and its system permanently established. Second, that if the Legislature should determine to act upon the subject at once, the exemption of personal property on account of indebtedness should be removed. Third, that a small income tax should be levied on a basis similar to that adopted in the Internal Revenue Act of Congress.

TAXES IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The Comptroller recommends some legislative action so that the State tax of the City of New-York may be collected at the same time with that of the State. The Chamberlain of the City, notwithstanding the explicit provision of the law passed at the last session, limiting his commutation to $2,000 per annum, persists in retaining from the State tax, $21,964 97, for the service thus is performed by any other County Treasurer in the State. Indeed, his services as County Treasurer are of no importance whatever to the State. They amount to nothing except to give a check upon the warrant of the City Comptroller. It is respectfully suggested that they be dispensed with, and that the Comptroller of the city be required to pay over the tax.

Delivery from Shipboard—Contracts Entire and Severable.

SUPERIOR COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Monoriet, Robertson and Mosell.

Theodore Reimers et al. vs. John P. Ender et als.—On the 12th day of September, 1855, the plaintiffs purchased one-half of 1,464 bags of saltpetre on board the ship Arabella, to arrive, at 10¼ cents per pound, cash, on board, and subsequently sold the same before arrival, to the defendants, at fifteen cents per pound, to be taken, when landed, alongside the ship in Boston. Upon the arrival in Boston, 681 bags were found to be damaged so as to be utterly worthless, and were sold on account of the Underwriters.

There was some rule of the Custom-house which prevented the delivery in bond alongside the vessel, as claimed by the plaintiffs, and they then proposed to the defendants to have the saltpetre entered in bond in Boston. This the defendants declined, but stated that they would receive alongside, according to contract. Subsequently the defendants declined to take the saltpetre, because it had not been delivered as agreed at the proper time.

The plaintiffs then notified the defendants that they should sell the saltpetre was change the loss to them, which was done, and the loss amounted to $4,209 95, for the recovery of which this action was brought.

On the trial, the defendants claimed the contract was entire; that they were not bound to receive less than their contract called for, to wit: 732 bags (all but 303 of which were damaged).

The plaintiffs claimed that the contract, by its very terms, was severable; that the consideration was capable of apportionment, and the exact quantity was not of the essence of the contract.

The Court ordered a verdict for the plaintiffs, subject to the opinion of the General Term, judgment meantime to be suspended.

The defendants appealed, and the case was now argued and decision reserved.

Van Pelt & Hull for plaintiffs; James Eschwege for defendants.

Liability of Landlord for not Putting Banister on Staircases.

MARINE COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge Hearne.

Peter Allwerden vs. Nicholas Jost.—This is an action brought to recover $500 damages for injuries to the person. The facts in the case are that plaintiff occupies the third floor of a house in Fifty-fifth street, owned by the defendant. There were no bannisters on the stairs leading from the first to the second floor, nor was there any light there, and in consequence of the unsafe condition of these stairs, plaintiff, in descending from his room on the night of the 2d of November last, fell over the side and injured himself so severely that he has been utterly unable to do any business, and is still confined to his room. The defendant claims that the accident was the result of plaintiff's own carelessness.

Case still on.

NO IRON FRAME TO BREAK, OR RUST TO SPOIL THE CLOTHES.

OVER 50,000 SOLD IN 1863,

It was pronounced superior to all others at the World's Fair at London, 1862. It took the FIRST PREMIUM at the great Fair of the AMERICAN INSTITUTE, in New-York City, 1863, where the judges were practical mechanics, and appreciated COG-WHEELS.

It took the First Premium at the

New-York State Fair	1862 and 1863
Vermont State Fair	1863
Pennsylvania State Fair	1863
Iowa State Fair	1863
Illinois State Fair	1863

And at County Fairs without number.

SELF-ADJUSTING AND ADJUSTABLE!

The only Wringer with the Patent
COG-WHEEL REGULATOR, which positively prevents the rolls from
BREAKING, OR TWISTING ON THE SHAFT.

It is not only a PERFECT WRINGER, but the cog-wheels give it a POWER which renders it a most EXCELLENT WASHER, screwing and scrubbing as it does the DIRT with the WATER from the clothes.

It will save its cost every six months in the saving of clothes.

We have seven sizes, from $9 50 to $35. The ordinary family sizes are No. 1, $10, and No. 2, $7. These have

COG WHEELS

AND ARE WARRANTED

in every particular.

This means, especially, that after a few months' use the lower roll
WILL NOT TWIST ON THE SHAFT,
or tear the clothing, as is the case with our No. 2, and other Wringers without cog-wheels.

In our monthly sales of over 5,000, only from one to two dozen are without cogs. In our retail sales we have not sold one in nearly two years. This shows which style is appreciated by the public. This is the only Wringer with the PATENT COG-WHEEL REGULATOR.

And though other Wringer makers are licensed to use our rubber rolls, yet none are ever licensed to use the cog-wheel regulator. Therefore, for cheapness and durability, buy only the UNIVERSAL CLOTHES WRINGER.

On receipt of the price from places where no one is selling, we will send the U. C. W. free of expense. What we especially want is a good
CANVASSER
in every town. We offer liberal inducements, and guarantee the exclusive sale. R. C. BROWNING,
No. 347 Broadway, New-York.

PUTNAM CLOTHES-WRINGER.

The ONLY reliable Self-Adjusting Wringer.
No wood-work to swell or split,
No thumb-screws to get out of order.

WARRANTED WITH OR WITHOUT COG-WHEELS.

It took the First Premium at Fifty-seven State and County Fairs in 1863, and is, without an exception, the best Wringer ever made.

Instead of believing the statements of parties interested in other Wringers,

TRY IT, AND JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

If not entirely satisfactory, return it.

It will wring anything from a thread to a bed-quilt without alteration.

Patented in the United States, England, Canada, and Australia. Agents wanted in every town.

No. 2, $5 50; No. 1, $6; No. 4, $8.

Exclusively Treated by
DR. LIGHTHILL,
Author of "A Popular Treatise on Deafness," "Letters on Catarrh," &c., &c., at his office
34 ST. MARK'S PLACE.
Office hours from 9, A. M. till 3, P. M.

FROM F. L. CAGWIN, ESQ.,
PRESIDENT CITY BANK, JOLIET, ILL.

Dr. Lighthill:

Dear Sir: It affords me the greatest satisfaction to be able to inform you that I am still improving, and have the highest hopes that my ear will be entirely well by the time you at first mentioned it would take to effect a cure. I can say that I am truly thankful to the kind Providence which directed me to you. Since the first few days' use of your prescription, my ear has improved, and almost at once. I was relieved from a very depressed state of feeling and an almost intolerable ease, to an elastic and hopeful state of mind. What Dr. John Nott replied to me as his experience, has been mine so far. My catarrhal trouble seems very much better also, and, indeed, altogether my health never was so good. I am weighing some five pounds more than is usual for me, (and more than I ever weighed before.)

I can but hope that it may be the good fortune of many with like troubles, to fall in the way of the benefit of your skill, and knowing how great the fear of imposition is with those, who in time past, may like myself have suffered by it, and feeling a wish, sincerely at this time, to aid and command you in establishing a high and deserved position amongst us in your profession, I beg, therefore, that you will not hesitate to refer to me, as it may be of use. I also inclose herewith, Professor Nott's reply to my letter of inquiries, which I deem highly creditable to you, and of great importance to others, as it has been to me. I will visit you again soon. In the meantime, believe me, Yours, very sincerely,

Joliet, Ill., July 27, 1863. F. L. CAGWIN.

FROM REV. JOHN NOTT, D. D.,
PROFESSOR IN UNION COLLEGE, SCHENECTADY, NEW-YORK.

Fonda, N. Y., April 25, 1863.

F. L. Cagwin, Esq.:

Dear Sir: I received your letter of April 23 today. I have had from infancy one very deaf ear, and always discharging more or less offensive matter. This year both ears became diseased, running very much, very offensive, producing the greatest debility of body and depression of spirits, and my hearing impaired in the highest degree. In such a condition, I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill. He has fully restored me. I hear well; the dizziness and the discharge have been removed, and have not returned. The stopping of the running has given me the highest elasticity and vigor of body, and a flow of spirits, while my fears were that stopping the discharge would prove detrimental or dangerous.

I esteem, or rather have learned to esteem, Dr. Lighthill—for he was a stranger to me until I was his patient—as a gentleman and a man of science, in whom the highest confidence may be placed. Yours, very truly,

JOHN NOTT.

A boy of mine, four years old, who had been quite hard of hearing for over a year, has been completely restored by Dr. Lighthill, after a short course of treatment.

A. C. HEWLETT, No. 36 6th-av.

New-York, Sept. 1, 1863.

This is to certify that I have been troubled for some time with partial deafness, and a very unpleasant ringing sound in the head, which rendered conversation difficult, except in a loud tone of voice. I take great pleasure in stating that under the skillful and painless treatment of Dr. Lighthill, my hearing has been restored, and the singing sound in the head has ceased.

H. P. WYANT, with J. W. Meserole,
No. 2 Warren-st.

New-York, Sept. 4, 1863.

I do hereby certify that for the past fifteen months my hearing has been affected in a considerable extent, and that by an operation of Dr. Lighthill I have been re*stored to my full hearing. As I reside in Detroit and in*tend leaving for home soon, those desirous of knowing the veracity of this may inquire of Mr. T. J. McArthur, No. 434 Broadway. P. McTERNEY.

New-York, Sept. 2, 1863.

New-York, June 17, 1863.

Dr. Lighthill has succeeded in restoring to perfect hearing my right ear, which has been deaf for some time, caused by a cold. As I am obliged to leave for New-Orleans in a few days, those who may wish to make further inquiries may call on my brother, Mr. H. C. Potter, No. 78 Reade-st., firm of Streeter, Faxon & Potter, who will be happy to give any information desired.
